FIRE RESULTS IN $2,000 LOSS AT CIGAR STORE

Comer's Smoke House Swept by Early Morning Blaze; Tobacco Stock Damaged

ORIGIN NOT DETERMINED

Believe Spontaneous Combustion in Cigar and Tobacco Stock Responsible

Fire of unknown origin swept the stock room of Comer's Smoke House, 135 E. Center-st, late last night, destroying a large stock of cigars and tobacco and resulting in damage estimated at more than $2,000.

Firemen from departments No. 1 and 2 responded to a call sent in by a police officer who discovered the blaze shortly before 1 o'clock. Using chemicals in fighting the blaze, the firemen prevented it from spreading below the second floor of the building, where the stock room is located.

The upstairs stock of cigars and tobacco is practically a total loss. In addition to his, the interior of the building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Loss Covered

All of the damage is covered by insurance, Mrs. O. J. Comer of 128 W. Fairgrounds-st, owner of the business, stated today. She was unable to place an accurate estimate on the damage today. This will not be possible, she stated, until a check of an inventory of goods in the stock room is completed.

Firemen prevented the flames from reaching the kitchen operated in connection with the lunch stand which is a part of the Comer business. The only damage to the kitchen, which is located on the second floor adjoining the stock room, resulted from smoke.

Although the cause of the fire is unknown, fire department officials say that there is a possibility that it might have been started by spontaneous combustion in the cigar and tobacco stock.

The second floor of the Comer place was swept by fire on Feb. 9, 1920, most of the damage at that time being confined to the stock room. The loss in that fire was estimated at about $4,000.

Building Owner

The building is owned by Fred W. Peters, of Dayton.

While the fire was in progress, Calvin Tuttle, who gives his address as Galion, Rural Route No. 5, was placed under arrest on the charge of having driven his automobile over fire department hose extending across Center-st. He was taken to the police department and was released on his promise to appear before Municipal Judge Martin for hearing at 4:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon.

A city ordinance provides a heavy penalty for driving a vehicle of any kind over hose while it is being used in fighting a fire, officials state.

DUAL DEATH MYSTERY BAFFLES AUTHORITIES

Two Theories, Murder-Suicide and Accidental, Held by Officials

West Union, Jan. 13—Authorities here today were trying to establish the manner in which Ralph Knauff, 32, and his father, Micinel, 72, met their death here last night.

Although the theory was advanced that the younger man, under the influence of alcohol, killed his father and then turned a revolver upon himself, some officials were inclined to believe that both deaths were accidental and were caused during a scuffle over a gun.

The younger man's widow, who witnessed the affair, was so hysterical today that she could not give a clear account of it.

NINE TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Eight Persons Indicted After 21 Cases Are Reviewed; 64 Witnesses Examined

JURORS NOT DISMISSED

Judge George B. Scofield Holds Members Subject to Call; Lauds Their Work

Nine indictments against eight persons were returned by the January grand jury which reported Wednesday afternoon to Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court after three days investigating cases presented to it by County Prosecutor Frank Wiselemann.

The grand jury ignored more cases than it returned true bills. With a total of 21 cases brought before it, the grand jurors investigated 12 cases and failed to bring in an indictment. All of the indictments returned were on cases in which the persons involved were held to the grand jury from justice or mayor's court. There was one secret indictment.

The grand jury examined 64 witnesses during the three day period in which it was in session. The grand jurors reported last Monday morning and completed its work shortly after noon Wednesday. There was a short wait while the final papers were prepared and when the grand jurors reported and were allowed to go.

Judge Scofield did not dismiss the grand jury with the completion of its report yesterday. In speaking of the excellent work done by the grand jurors he said that he was not going to dismiss them, but allow them to recess, which makes them subject to call at any time the jury may be needed dur-

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 13—After killing two women, a mother and daughter, the latter president of the senior class, Carson and Newman College, W. S. Johnson barricaded himself in his $40,000 home today and was finally captured, wounded, by a posse comprising officers from three counties.

Tear bombs, machine guns and finally dynamite, which set fire to the home, were used to force Johnson from the house. He was finally captured in the basement.

Thousands jammed the vicinity in the early hours of the morning as the flames roared through the house.

Salm to Get $325,000

Count Reported To Have Made Settlement with Father of Former Millicent Rogers; Quiet Divorce Proceedings Are Now Forecast

Countess Salm and Her Son, Peter

Salm's Suit Against Wife Dropped When Her Father Settles Outside of Court

Austrian Nobleman To Receive $325,000, According to Report; Action Against "In-Laws" for Alleged Alienation of Affections Will Be Dropped Forever

New York, Jan. 13—Count Ludwig Salm's suit for separation from the former Millicent Rogers, heiress to the $40,000,000 Standard Oil fortune of her father, Col. H. H. Rogers, has been settled out of court, it was reported today.

By the terms of the settlement, the Austrian nobleman will receive $325,000 from his wife's father, it was reliably stated. The payment of this sum was said to be in abatement of the count's projected suits against Col. and Mrs. Rogers for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

The count's suit for separation will be dropped forever, the reports said, but a quiet divorce suit in Paris was forecast for the countess.

A further provision of the settlement will accord Count Salm partial custody of his little son, Peter, the figure around whom the suit for separation pivoted. The extent of this custody has not yet been determined, it was said.

Thus ends one of the most spectacular international romances of recent years. Attorneys for both sides, advising the court that a settlement had been reached, stated that reconciliation was not the basis of settlement.

The suit brought by the count against his young American wife opened in New York county supreme court Dec. 8 but was abruptly adjourned Dec. 9 until Jan. 17, next Monday, after two days of taking testimony, during which several letters written by the countess to the count's mother, following the couple's separation in Paris, were read in open court. In these letters, the countess expressed her affection for the count, and revealed that the count had been offered $12,000 a year by Col. Rogers to remain out of America and away from the countess.

Adjourn Hearing

Following the adjournment there were numerous reports that the count had been offered amounts ranging from $500,000 to $1,000,000 to abandon his suit. These reports were denied by both parties.

Yesterday, as a preliminary to the final public announcement of the suit's discontinuance, counsel for the count and the countess again adjourned the renewed hearing until March 21.

It was then they advised Justice Levy that the suit had been settled.

ROBERT WOLFE, PUBLISHER, IS KILLED IN FALL

Head of Columbus Dispatch and Ohio State Journal Plunges to Death

TRIPS AT CASEMENT

Powerful Figure in State and National Politics; Son Survives Him

Columbus, Jan. 13—Robert F. Wolfe, publisher of the Columbus Dispatch and the Ohio State Journal, and one of the most prominent men in Ohio financial and political circles, was instantly killed shortly before noon today, in a fall from a window of his office on the fifth floor of the Columbus Dispatch Building.

Wolfe was alone in his private office but a few minutes previously had remarked to one of his associates that he "felt dizzy" and would open all his windows to air out the room.

It is believed that he tripped in opening one of the large casement windows which give access to a wide coping around the building, and in doing so lost his balance and fell.

Was 60 Years Old

Wolfe was born Nov. 7, 1860, and as a youth lived with his parents, the late Andrew Jackson Wolfe and Nancy Barton Wolfe, in Zanesville, and later in Cumberland, Ohio. He worked in a glass factory at Zanesville and at 11 he was driving a canal boat between Cumberland, Md., and Georgetown.

Later he served as a seaman on a coasting schooner and was a newsboy on the streets of New York for a while. His early life as filled with varied experiences, as a sailor, a cowboy in Texas, and a lumberjack in the Louisiana cypress swamps.

He established a shoe factory in Columbus after he moved here in 1888 and in 1905, with his brother, Harry F. Wolfe, purchased the State Journal.

Two years later, the brothers bought the Dispatch.

Wolfe married Miss Ada Thurston, Jan. 14, 1890, and is survived by his son, Edgar B. Wolfe, who has succeeded to the management of the Journal.

Political Influence

The publisher was known for his many gifts to civic and charitable causes, and was rated several times a millionaire. He donated a 40-acre tract to the city for an extension of beautiful Franklin Park in 1913. He was commissioned a commodore in the Ohio Naval Reserve for his part in the rescue work during the flood of 1913.

Wolfe was known as a silent but powerful influence in state and national political circles in Ohio. He advocated the re-election of Woodrow Wilson in 1916, and just as staunchly supported President Coolidge in the latest presidential campaign.

His son, Edgar B. Wolfe, one brother, Harry Preston Wolfe, and two sisters, Mrs. Henry A. Houstle, Columbus, and Mrs. David S. Beverly, Hebron, survive him.

Kellogg's Charges Solidifies G. O. P. Behind Coolidge

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS TO BE CALLED

Borah Scheduled To Address Senate Late Today on Nicaraguan Situation; Severance of Relations with United States Is Forecast in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13— The Mexican-Nicaraguan controversy continued to burn fiercely in congress today.

Secretary of State Kellogg's open charges of a "red plot" to undermine and destroy American influence in Latin-America, directed from Mexico, had the effect of solidifying wavering Republicans behind the administration program, but it left the leadership of the opposition absolutely cold.

The attitude of the Democrats generally was one of "watchful waiting." Some Democrats will support the administration's firm policy below the Rio Grande; others will not, but it was apparent today that the majority prefer to await developments before committing themselves to a party policy.

It is likely a Democratic caucus will be called shortly to discuss the situation.

Senator Borah served notice this morning that he would address the senate this afternoon on the Mexican-Nicaraguan situation.

Senatorial insurgents, like Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana and Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, upon whom party discipline rests lightly, if at all, are incensed over what they characterize as Secretary Kellogg's "dragging a red herring" across the Nicaraguan trail.

Says Mexico Has Case

"What Secretary Kellogg apparently has proved," said Wheeler, "is that some American communists went to Mexico to stir up opposition to 'American imperialism.' From that it would appear, if anything, that Mexico has a case against the United States for permitting them to go there.

"The only document produced of Mexican origin was one from the Mexican Federation of Labor denouncing communists as enemies of the federation and enemies of the Mexican government. Instead of proving that Mexico is fomenting communistic opposition to the United States, it would appear rather that the Mexican government is the foe of communism, for it is a well known fact that the Mexican Federation of Labor constitutes the bulwark of the Calles government.

"The communist party is the greatest enemy to all really liberal movements. But apparently everyone who attempts to thwart special privilege must expect to be denounced as a communist."

Wheeler and other opponents of Kellogg's policy pointed out that the Russian documents submitted by Kellogg were taken from the meetings of the Internationale of three and four years ago.

"These were published at the time," said Wheeler. "They did not cause any special alarm then, so why should they now? Chicherin, who sponsored some of them, is no longer a major figure in Russia.

Says Affair Infantile

"If we want to send 13 warships and 5,000 marines to Nicaragua because a few communists are making speeches in Mexico, it is a pretty state of affairs.

"The whole thing is infantile."

"If Secretary Kellogg is going to send the marines against those who complain about 'American imperialism,' he will have to send them to the senate doors as well," concluded Wheeler.

Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Shipstead, former-Farmer, of Minnesota, merely declared their opposition to the administration's policy was unchanged by Secretary Kellogg's charges, and said they would speak their opposition on the senate floor.

Poor Defense, Claim

"All Mr. Kellogg seems to have proved," said Senator Norris, "is that the communists complained about 'American imperialism.' This is poor defense for the American invasion of Nicaragua, and the dispatch of an armada to the Caribbean.

"There is in all the evidence submitted by Mr. Kellogg no testimony showing injury to American lives and property in Nicaragua by the Sacasa party. That should be the only issue at stake. This talk of communism is the same kind of bunk that has been used before, during the war hysteria.

"What the state department is doing is to put up a bold, gruff front in Nicaragua to impress Mexico. That's the whole case in a nutshell. We are under no more obligation to support Diaz in Nicaragua than we are to support King George because we recognize him as the king of England. The fact we have to send our navy to keep Diaz in power, is the best evidence that his own people don't want him, and that he wouldn't last 24 hours if we took our forces away."

Administration Majority

Senator Johnson, Republican, of California, who announced he would support the administration, said the state de-

COMPLETE ROUT OF 300 REBELS IS REPORTED

Mexican Federal Forces Recapture Village of Cocula After Eight-Hour Battle

Mexico City, Jan. 13—The complete rout of three hundred rebels with a loss of 40 dead, at the hands of 80 federal dragoons, who have recaptured the village of Cocula, in Jalisco, was reported to the War Department today.

For eight hours the battle raged before the rebels were put to flight and the federal forces lost but one dead and two wounded.

The Calles government insists today that the rebellion in north and central Mexico presents no great difficulty and announced its firm intention of using drastic measures to put down the insurrectionary movement.

Report 142 Bodies

As mute evidence of the government's stern program, travelers reaching Mexico City report that 142 bodies are swaying from the branches of trees on the hillside at Ozumba—apparently the bodies of those sentenced to death after having been implicated in rebel activities.

The report of these executions is not confirmed in official circles, although rumors of the death penalty being meted out generally are rife. One report states that six rebels have been executed on the outskirts of Mexico City.

The travelers from Ozumba say the bodies they saw hanging from the trees were well-dressed, chiefly those of young men apparently from good families.

Disorder Reports

Reports of disorders continue, particularly from Guanajuato, where General Rodolfo Gallegos was recently put to flight with his followers who fought under the banner of "Viva Christ the King."

Traffic between points on the line between Mexico City and Guadelajara is reported suspended, due to the destruction of bridges.

General Escobar, who has been placed in charge of the campaign against the rebels, has arrived at Durango where a serious situation exists owing to the rebel activities of Indian religious fanatics.

Unconfirmed reports were current today that Prince Valerio Pignatelli, former attache of the Italian legation who attracted attention last autumn by challenging General Serrano, governor of the federal district, to a duel, has joined with rebel forces under the leadership of the Vidal brothers.

Vocational Department at Harding High School Plans Three Night School Classes

Courses in Mechanical Drawing, Machine Shop Practice and Wood Working To Be Offered in 20 Lessons

Following a custom in vogue during the last three years the Vocational Department at Harding High School under L. H. Ricker, co-ordinator, is planning night schools in mechanical drawing, machine shop practice and wood working.

According to present arrangements the classes will run for 10 weeks starting next week. Classes in all three subjects will be conducted each Monday and Wednesday nights between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Enrollments in the three subjects will be received starting Friday night. All persons wishing to enroll for this work, is a less invited to appear at the Vocational Department in the basement of Harding High School building at 7 o'clock.

20 Needed

At least 20 must be enrolled for each subject to make the classes possible, it was explained today by Mr. Ricker. Enrollments in the classes proposed will close when that number has been reached.

In the event the enrollment justifies the formation of additional classes this matter will be arranged, Mr. Ricker announced.

Last year 27 enrolled for machine shop practice. The year before 22 enrolled in machine shop practice and 21 completed the course in mechanical drawing.

Instructors

Mr. Ricker and C. H. Rensch will be in charge of the classes in machine shop practice and wood working and R. A. Todd will have charge of the class in mechanical drawing.

Last year several applicants were turned away owing to the fact that there were too many for one class and not a sufficient number for two.

It was pointed out by Mr. Ricker that those interested in this work should enroll the first night. A fee of $2 for the 20 lessons during the 10-week period will be charged.

GIVES UP SINGING FOR BAKERY SHOP

Miss Lillian Braun

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 13—Biscuits, fancy cakes and tasty pastries are being turned out in a bakery here to the tune of vocal selections by a singer who formerly toured the United States as a soprano.

The bakery is under the supervision and direction of Miss Lillian Braun and is situated in the fashionable Country Club district.

Why Miss Braun gave up her career as a stage artist puzzled her friends. She had won considerable praise from the pens of critics and rapidly was gaining fame as a concert singer when she toured the country five years ago. But Miss Braun couldn't think of remaining away from her father and mother and her home, so she decided to give up her stage career and take up baking.

"I would much rather be home with my folks than be traveling around the country," said Miss Braun. "All my life I planned to be in some kind of business. Even when I was singing I always looked forward to the day when I would be doing something in the business world.

"Of course, it was hard to give up a chance to make the top of the ladder in the stage world after studying nearly all my life but I didn't dream I ever would be so lonesome for home as I was when I was touring the United States.

"My, it's terrible to be lonesome, don't you think so?" she concluded. "I'd rather be in the business and be close to Mama and Papa."

Mid-Western States Join in Fight to Eradicate Many Damaging Poultry Diseases

Illinois Pioneer in sMovement To Prevent Heavy Losses Among Flocks; Iowa, Michigan and Other States Take Up Work

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13—The trail blazed by the State of Illinois will be followed by other states of the union in work for the eradication of avian tuberculosis, one of the greatest problems now facing poultry fanciers. This was revealed today by S. J. Standard, state director of the State Department of Agriculture.

Much commendation of Illinois' program in this work, and progress made thus far, is contained in a file of communications from officials of other states. Interested, too, are agricultural and livestocks sanitation officials and the National Live Stock Exchange.

Illinois is the "pioneer" in these activities.

John D. Jones, Jr., commissioner of agriculture in the state of Wisconsin has written that he realizes the necessity of work along this line and states that in three counties of that state preliminary work will be started early this year.

Michigan has a similar project ready for launching, Dr. Benjamin J. Killham, chief veterinarian of that state, reports.

M. G. Thornburg, secretary of the Iowa agricultural department, writes that Illinois' reports "is of interest to us at this time because we are getting ready to start demonstration work in one of our accredited counties." Thornburg also expresses surprise at the small percentage of reactors to tests in Illinois.

Indiana, through its chief veterinarian, Dr. F.H. Brown, also praises Illinois' work and will watch its progress. To date, Dr. Brown states, Indiana's work has been educational. Indiana's plan differs from that of Illinois in that they expect to use the tuberculin tests only to locate infected flocks and to demand the extermination (still physically diseased birds in such flocks, excepting flocks of purebreds will). Following the removal of diseased birds, they will require thorough sanitation and disinfection and advise restocking with baby chicks from reliable sources.

Commendation also comes from H. R. Smith, livestock commissioner of the National Livestock Exchange. Smith furnishes some interesting figures from a similar plan employed in two townships in Miner county South Dakota.

GERMANY TOPS ALL NATIONS IN TOY EXPORTING

United States Has Largest Production, Survey Shows, but Little Shipping

Washington, Jan. 13 — The United States far outranks Germany in the value of its toy production, but the latter country still retains its supremacy in the exporting field, according to the specialties division of the commerce department.

In 1925 German toys shipped abroad were valued at $26,500,000, about 95 per cent of Germany's total production, while during the same period this country exported to the value of but $3,242,000, about five per cent of the production.

German children get few of the remarkable toys that come out of its factories—on the other hand the great bulk of the toys manufactured in the United States find their way to the playrooms of the American youngsters.

Every effort is being made by the German industry to recover some of the trade lost in foreign markets since the inflation boom, the commerce department's information showed.

The losses in 1925 were concentrated in two of the most important markets, England and the United States. The total quantity of Germany's toy exports to the rest of the world increased about eight per cent. At the same time toy exports to United States dropped 33 per cent and to Great Britain five per cent. The losses far outweighed gains attained in the lesser Belgium, Switzerland, Denmark, Italy, markets such as Holland, Australia, Chile, Portugal and New Zealand.

"This can be understood readily when it is remembered that England and United States have for years been buying about 90 per cent of all the toys exported from Germany," the report said.

"Irrespective of the import duty, the decrease in America's purchases of German toys is due to the rapid development of a large domestic toy industry, employing up to date designs and methods of manufacture, as well as the competition of French, Japanese, Czechoslovak and British producers."

Germany for shipments to Canada declined slightly as a result principally of American competition. A similar situation existed with relation to Cuba. On the other hand a 35 per cent increase was noted in German toy exports to Mexico.

Shipments of German toys to South America increased four per cent to South America in 1925 in spite of strong American, British and Japanese competition. Exports to South America, nevertheless, remain 12 per cent below pre-war figures.

No story is too long for the person who is interested in it.

Conservatism is rightly considered the first requisite of a bank. But conservatism too often is excessive, bringing with it lack of human sympathy and understanding.

The Marion National was founded on the bed-rock principles of conservative banking. Uncle Sam's Actuary Puts Figures in Sparkling Facts

There's Nothing Statistically Dry About This Joseph S. McCoy

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Joseph S. McCoy is government actuary. He deals in statistics.

There are plenty of other government statisticians. All the departments have them. The army and navy departments can tell, on an average, just how much damage is done by a given number of pounds of high explosives. The agriculture department has volumes of statistics on weather. The census bureau wallows in statistical comparisons. The labor department compiles them by the ream.

JOSEPH McCOY

Only one there are plenty of statisticians in Washington, but there's only one Joseph S. McCoy.

• • •

A STATISTICIAN is supposed to be a cross-dust old duck—a creature of charts with curves and zig-zag lines. He is supposed to know nothing but what he's supposed to see nothing but what he's worked out mathematically.

How utterly unlike any such conception is Joseph S. McCoy.

His surroundings are according to Hoyle, to be sure. He has a dim, dank office in the bowels of the Treasury building. It's a moldy, gloomy hole—an ideal place in which to look for a treasury actuary.

• • •

AND then you see J. S. McCoy. The sunshine lights up immediately. When McCoy inside it, no place could look grim and drear.

He's statistician, that's a fact. He has to be, to have assimilated as many figures as he has. Right there his resemblance to the conventional statistician ends. He probably is the jolliest-looking, wisest-mustached old gentleman in Washington.

You ask for some statistics and you get 'em. But statistics served in the funniest form you ever beheld. They don't suggest statistics at all.

• • •

THE idea is, McCoy mixes his figures with imagination. He doesn't mix 'em with fiction. He deals only with facts, but he shows imagination in the way he combines them.

Figures are his raw material. His product is romance.

I called on him the other day in connection with a query concerning post-war finance—international debts, money market control, problems of exchange and the shape that current banking developments are likely to take.

"Well, you see," replied the veteran actuary, "you can't look far into the future without glancing back into the past."

And he glanced straightway back to the time of the earlier Crusades.

• • •

THEN, it appears, was when the international financier got his real start.

There were some dabblers in the business in really ancient times, but the Crusaders were the folk who had to float the first sure-enough war loans.

From the Crusades, McCoy proceeded on down through history, hitting the financial high spots here and there, to the Battle of Waterloo, when the Rothschilds made their initial big killing.

Jumping then to the United States, he sketched America's banking and commercial career to date.

ON this foundation he built the superstructure of his predictions for the future.

What it was is neither here nor there, further than that it was optimistic, as might be expected from so cheerful a statistician as Joseph S. McCoy. The point is that there are mighty few actuaries who can compile a set of figures as thick as Webster's Unabridged and reel 'em off in the form of the most exciting kind of a story book, dating from the days of Richard the Lion Hearted to collection of the last war debt outstanding in favor of the United States.

Only 22 Hollywood Residents to be Found in Current Edition of Who's Who

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Jan. 13.—If you desire to ascertain who's who in Hollywood by a perusal of the 1927 edition of Who's Who in America, you are very apt to learn who "ain't."

For a review of this latest compilation of those who "have achieved special prominence in creditable lines of effort, making them the subjects of extensive interest, inquiry or discussion," shows that but 22 Hollywoods—17 men and five women—are included.

One cannot help but wonder, after reviewing those who are in the book, the exact nature of the "extensive interest, inquiry or discussion" that brought them the coveted honor, to the exclusion of so many of their brethren.

One will search in vain for Theda Bara's name and if she didn't create "interest, inquiry and discussion" with her introduction of vampire roles and the introduction of the word "vamp" in the English language, who did?

Betty Out

Neither will one find Betty Blythe. Didn't her undraped torso in "The Queen of Sheba" arouse discussion, laudits and criticism? Try also and find Raoul Walsh, who directed "The Thief of Bagdad"; Marshall Neilan or Reginald Barker, each with a score of screen successes to his credit.

Mack Sennett, who first called attention to the fact that America had nothing to offer, is omitted. So are Greta Garbo, Fred Niblo and Shirley Mason, Anita Stewart, Jack Gilbert, King Vidor and Wallace Beery.

Pola Negri isn't mentioned under this or any other name and the same can be said of Colleen Moore, Betty Compson, Kathleen Williams, Anna Q. Nilsson or Mrs. Lew Cody nee Mae Murray.

Now for those who ARE in the little red book.

There is J. Stuart Blackton, organizer with Albert E. Smith of the Vitagraph Co., in 1907 which was the first company to make screen photoplays. It seems a bit incongruous, but Smith's name cannot be found in the book.

Yes Charlie's In

Charlie Chaplin, of course, is given 21 lines, with the interesting note that he is a member of the Societe des Beaux Arts of Paris.

Jackie Coogan is the only Coogan in the book. Does anyone recall that Jackie wears the Greek, "Silver Cross of the Order of George" or the "Cross of the Order of Jerusalem"? Well, he does and they were presented by the Greek government and the Greek orthodox church for work in the children's crusade.

How many people know Cecil B. DeMille as a banker? He is vice president of the Commercial Trust and Savings bank and occupies the same position with the Bank of America besides being chairman of the advisory Board of the Bank of Italy.

Underneath Cecil De Mille's name appears the name of William C. De Mille with the interesting information that he is a "Jeffersonian Democrat and an Episcopalian."

Douglas Fairbanks receives 19 lines, 13 of which are taken up with a list of his screen successes. Like Harold Lloyd, he was born in Denver. The latter, by the way, is Hollywood's most inveterate clubman, the comedian claiming membership in 10 clubs.

And Mary's There

It took some time to find the name of Mary Pickford. It was found, however, and revealed the interesting, if true, information that Fairbanks is a resident of Los Angeles while Miss Pickford resided in Beverly Hills. Another Hollywood scandal.

The late Thomas H. Ince is given credit for discovering Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese actor, who happens to be in Los Angeles at the present time. William S. Hart was the one-time leading man for Modjeska, Madame Rhea and Julia Arthur. He has been in pictures since 1914.

Mary Miles Minter, who eschewed motion pictures considerably over a year ago, has a very long notice. Clara Kimball Young and Pauline Frederick are dismissed with a few lines.

One will find a notice of Norma Talmadge with the fact that she is the wife of Joseph M. Schenck. But one will search in vain for any data of Mr. Schenck. Also notices of Constance Talmadge, but their husbands are omitted.

Sills is Speaker

Did anyone know that Milton Sills was a frequent speaker on "art, literature and religion?" Well, he is, and Who's Who gives him full credit.

Page 1926 reveals that the real name of the late Rudolph Valentino was Rudolpho Alfonso Raffaell Pierre Filibert Guglielmi Di Valetina d'Antongiolla.

And speaking of names Gloria Swanson was not born Swanson, press agents to the contrary notwithstanding, or Who's Who is a prevaricator. For it states there that her parents were named Klanowsky. Take it or leave it.

Others who are mentioned are: Otis Harlan, Douglas McLean, Tom Sitz, Charles Ray, Robert Edeson, Frank Keenan, Rupert Hughes, Tully Marshall, Jim Tully, Frances Marion, Byron Morgan, Frank H. Spearman, H. C. Witwer, Peter B. Kyne, Rob Wagner, Lois Weber, and Clara Kimball Young. Col. William N. Selig has a prominent place also. His middle name is revealed as being "Nichols."

Will Rogers is the last on the list of Beverly Hills residents. It is stated that he attended Kemper Military academy "for a short time." Wonder what the story is behind that?

TEACHING A NATION TO AVOID SEVERE COLDS

SOMEDAY scientists will find the specific cause of colds. Then what a blessing, to have the costly, dangerous cold germ captured like diphtheria and typhoid!

Until that day comes, however, we are sure of one thing: "To avoid a BIG cold stop a little one."

The Approved Treatment

In relieving colds, little or big, the following treatment has been found effective in millions of cases for over 20 years.

1. Rest in bed, if possible, thus giving the body a chance to regain its vitality.
2. Take a Laxative — this cleanses the body of impurities which reduce the natural resistance.
3. Adopt a simple diet—An easily digested diet rests the digestive organs.
4. Rub Vicks VapoRub on the throat and chest. Vicks is especially valuable because its medicated vapors, released by the body heat, are breathed direct to the inflamed air passages. At the same time it stimulates the skin like a poultice.

Mothers cherish Vicks as a treatment for children's colds because, being externally applied, it cannot upset delicate digestions.

Once you get the habit of using this treatment at the first sign of every little cold BIG colds will be almost unknown to you.

Daily Proverb—"Faults of ignorance are excusable only where the ignorance itself is so."

At this distance it looks as though the easiest way for Earl Carroll is to serve his time and lie no more.

We have about decided that in some way we overlooked formal announcement of the celebration of "National Laugh" month in the White House.

Professor Gaetano Salvemini says that "If Mussolini is killed he will be revered as a second Julius Caesar. If he lives, he may become a second Kaiser William II." That looks like enough to set Benito guessing.

There's nothing startling in Mr. Browning's statement that "Peaches" married him to get rich quick, but it is somewhat surprising that he was about the last individual in the country acquainted with the case to reach that conclusion.

The gang warfare out in Illinois is bringing the Marion dateline into the spot-light in a way far from appealing to other cities of the same name. Still, it's a heap sight better to have the name and not the killings than both.

The Chattanooga News says "the best way to improve a woman's lot is to build a house on it and install a good man in the house as a sort of assistant manager." That may improve a woman's lot, but if a home is sought, we are sufficiently old-fashioned to believe that the best way to that end is to turn it over to the sole management of a good woman.

It has been discovered that two Polish society men have been robbing the rich and well-to-do of Warsaw to aid the poor. Still, it is hardly the first time that resort has been made to law-breaking under the guise of aiding the unfortunate.

General Smedley D. Butler, whose reported conversion to wetness aroused a storm of disapproval, now explains that he is "emphatically in favor of prohibition, but as strongly opposed to the silly Volstead law." Looks a lot like hopping out of the frying-pan into the fire.

The Rev. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, who is being tried for murder, sets up as a defense the right to kill under the old Texas "law of apparent danger." Wouldn't it be odd should it develop that this Texas slayer, who had his gun with him, is affiliated with the pacificist church organization, which preaches that we haven't the right to defend ourselves against either an internal or a foreign foe?

A Paris story says that ten Montmartre cabarets have been compelled to close their doors since Christmas owing to the rising franc, excessive taxation and the "steady and almost precipitous decline in foreign clients." If the hill-top joints have lost their American, English, Dutch and German patrons, it is little wonder that they have closed, for the French are alike too thrifty and have far too much sense to burn money for the framed-up toughness which has attracted suckers to Montmartre for years.

A Washington dealer who sold lewd and indecent magazines has been fined $100. If such action becomes general, there is bound to be an improvement in the tone of the magazine purveyors of filth which have been corrupting the youth of the land.

The action of the mayor of Quebec in barring indefinitely the Chaplin pictures in that city, owing to the scandal developed over the divorce suit against the latter, looks unduly precipitous and may work great harm unjustly. Only the wife's side of the case has been introduced, and, at the best, there is a wide margin between the allegations of a petition and facts established in court, but if her charges, which are said to be unfit to print, are established, it is easy to guess that the action taken in Quebec will be general throughout this country. Still, it is well to remember that they have not yet been established. Common justice almost demands that.

Prosperity and Charity.

In a recent issue of the Ohio State Journal its paragrapher remarked:

"Well, there isn't any national election this year and perhaps we may venture to ask a question which has honestly puzzled us for a long time, viz., why it is that in periods of the most abounding, unparalleled and universal Republican prosperity, with no more unemployment than a rabbit, the community chests of our country absolutely need a great deal more money than they ever did before to relieve the pressing necessities of the unfortunate?"

It may be that the purpose of the foregoing is to knock the administration, for the gifted Journal paragrapher has a decided leaning to the other side of the political fence. It may be that he is taking a sly dig at organized charity, and again it may be that he is making merely a statement of fact. No matter what his purpose, the answer is easy. The "regulars" who make a business of living off charity are naturally growing in number, year after year, and it takes real money to buy radio outfits and keep the tank full of gas.

Broadcasting the Movies.

Following by a few weeks the announcement that the United States navy is sending maps by radio and that telegrams and newspaper pages may be sent the same way, and right upon the heels of the opening of a commercial radiophone service across the Atlantic comes a forecast by an expert electrical engineer that a decade may, and probably will, see the broadcasting of moving pictures, just as musical and speaking programs are broadcast now.

The expert engineer is Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric company and the Radio Corporation of America. Speaking to an audience of electrical engineers in the Engineering building in New York City, Monday night, Dr. Alexanderson described his simple apparatus by which he hopes a beginning has been made toward the production of television, so that not far in the future any one sitting at the telephone may see the person with whom he is conversing. Dr. Alexanderson admitted that his apparatus was crude and that much development must take place before it approached practicality, but he voiced the optimistic prediction that it would take place, possibly in not more than ten years.

Those who listened to him, far from scouting his ideas, asked eagerly for details of the method by which he transmits his images. They watched seven little spots of light gyrate and blend as they fled across the screen, and were able to picture in their imagination a time when those spots of light, increased twenty-fourfold by mirrors, would cover the entire screen before the vision of the observer and by gradations of light and shadow produce a picture.

Dr. Alexanderson's method of broadcasting pictures, which he predicted would come as soon as the public demanded it, was only sketchily described by him. He indicated, however, that it is done by fastening the photograph to be sent on a rotating drum, and by reflecting light to it the various tone values are transmitted by electrical processes to the modulating carrier wave of a broadcasting station, which in turn actuates a photo-electric cell in the receiving instrument that paints, as it were, the tone values on a rotating film. The two rotating drums are synchronized so that they will always be in step.

It's a great vista this electrical export presents to us, this promise that the time is near at hand when we may be able to see moving pictures in our own homes without the many disadvantages under which we see them now, chief of which and most annoying being the title readers; the people who brace their knees against the back of your chair and vibrate it throughout the show; the mothers who sit behind you and become so enwrapped in the films that they neglect to notice that "baby," who has been eating candy, massages the back of your neck with sticky hands, and the very general common nuisance that attaches gum to the arms of chairs and throws it upon the floor.

Still, there is ever the fly in the ointment. And there will probably be a fly or two in the broadcasting of movies, one of them being the fellow who is never content to let the machine alone, but jumps from program to program in the hope of finding something better or dodging static, only to go, generally, from bad to worse. The chances are about a million to one that the broadcasting of movies will be developed long before the average man—or woman, for that matter—can be developed up to a point where he will be able to overcome his inherent tendency to experiment and roam.

"Good Farming Pays," reads a head in an exchange. Anything good usually does.

"I have to use a new blade every time I shave," says Mussolini, "for there are no blades made that can stand more than one shave on my beard." Gee, Benito! Why don't you try a file?

Still, it's well, before criticizing the alleged "hardships" of New York's Baumes law, to remember that it was passed for the protection of the decent people of the state and not to meet the approval of the state's hardened criminals.

The governor of Pennsylvania qualified the election certificate made out by him to Mr. Vare, elected to the federal senate. We wonder if there would have been a similar qualification had Mr. Gifford Pinchot, whose defeat cost something like $250,000, been the successful candidate.

Members of the Indiana legislature have pulled off a salary grab, the increase being four dollars a day. We do not know the Hoosier legislative salary, but if they aren't improvements over the general run of state lawmakers, it looks as though they are getting enough.

Aimee Semple McPherson's announcement, in starting on her lecture tour, that she will talk on "The March of Christianity," is bound to prove disappointing to the general run, which naturally expected a thrilling story of that trail over the burning sands of the desert.

A substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill has been offered providing for an export corporation for each of our more important crops instead of one corporation for all of them as provided in the original bill. We have felt right along that the politicians have been overlooking a golden opportunity for the rewarding of patriots by the creation of more jobs.

Vagrant Verse.

SNOWS.

Now night retreats and dawn its bugle blows,
Here where the heaving Housatonic flows,
The plumes of the white heron fall the snows
Over the Berkshires, make a downy nest
In the tall cedars on the mountain crest.
They are like feathery dreams, and I recall
Their flutter otherwhere;
The Santa Lucia hills rise like a stair
Above the broad Pacific; they are there.
They cap the lofty Sierras, and their light
Makes spectral daytime of the darkest night.
They rest on mighty Hermon as a crown,
Imperial Hermon looking nobly down
Upon old Damascus where it sees
The fragrant snow bloom of the citron trees.
Now night retreats and dawn its bugle blows,
Thus am I borne upon the wings of snows.

THE BRITISH BOARDER IS A GLUTTON.

Warnings Given by Gall Bladder.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A good woman out in Seattle is having a bad time with gall-bladder trouble. She says she has read all about the functions of this organ, but her book "does not say anything about a sick bladder." "Help us to understand ourselves," she pleads.

There are two sides to the question of helping folks to understand themselves so far as disease is concerned. There can be no doubt it is desirable to have common sense knowledge of the body and its ailments. But there are sensitive persons, with active imaginations, who begin to feel all the symptoms named almost as soon as they are recited. To find a safe middle ground is the problem.

Perhaps there is no better example of what I have in mind than this very subject, disease of the gall-bladder. We may have symptoms which are purely and solely those of "indigestion," as ordinarily understood, and which, too, are those of more or less serious disease of the gall-bladder.

If I recite to you the signs of gall-bladder invasion you may conclude at once that your digestive disturbance is due to this cause, when, in fact, it is due wholly to your indiscretions in eating. Our critics may point to this as an instance of the creation of unnecessary worry.

If what I say, however, sends you to your doctor you will be benefited mentally as well as physically. He will examine you and find the gall-bladder is normal. But he will tell you, too, that you must improve on your eating.

On the contrary, he may find that a condition exists which requires radical treatment. Without it life may be shortened. With it you will live our normal expectation and then some.

Inflammation of the gall-bladder develops certain symptoms. Among them are tenderness or pain over the region of the gall-bladder, to the right and above the umbilicus. This is the appendix location, too, and on this account gall-bladder trouble may be mistaken for appendicitis.

Fever and vomiting are other symptoms. The swelling may be enough to be felt by the fingers.

Long continued inflammation may result in gall-stones. These may be present for a long time without giving any sign. But after a while the dyspeptic symptoms appear. Discomfort and pain after eating and fermentation of the food are common symptoms. Belching of gas and bloating are familiar signs.

This is where there may be a confusion between ordinary dyspepsia and the disturbance due to gall-stones. Persistent, obstinate digestive disturbance must raise the suspicion of gall-bladder involvement. That is why the doctor should be consulted, and if you are worried just enough to be driven to see him it may be to your advantage. But if you simply sit down to worry about yourself I should be sorry I told you anything about the gall-bladder. — Copyright, 1927.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

This is written in Atlantic City. Atlantic City is known for many things—one of the most famous towns in America. The thing it deserves most credit for gets little publicity. The board of education, financed by the municipal government, presents to the people, free, a series of forty lectures and concerts during the school year. There is one every Tuesday night. The auditorium of the senior high school seats 2,000 persons. The best people rich and poor go. That is to say the people with the best minds.

Roy Chapman Andrews, foremost explorer of the day, tells about the search for prehistoric man's bones on the central Asian plateau. Dr. Canby, formerly professor of English at Yale, gives a scholarly lecture. So does John Cowper Powys, eminent English scholar. Ida Tarbell talks about Lincoln. All free—and vastly more valuable than the average moving-picture or a vaudeville show.

Boards of education in towns all over America may well take a lesson from Atlantic City.

Speaking of Atlantic City, the board walk is not a cheerful place. It is full of people trying to get health and happiness by "passing the buck" to the sea and the weather. Nothing the matter with the sea or weather. Both are good; both invigorating. But happiness comes in work. Happiness is a state of mind. Happiness is within you. It can not be won from sea and weather.

Bradley Martin, member of New York's older aristocracy, has something to say about the flapper. In McClure magazine, he speaks as follows:

"That gay, life-loving, forthright creature whom we call the flapper is more honest in her attitude than her mother was and much more honest than her grandmother dared be."

That is the salvation of the younger generation—their frankness and honesty. Investigate your boy or girl. You may find some habits you do not like, but you are likely to find both of them more honest than you were. They may do some things you didn't do, but they do not believe they are wrong, and they admit everything frankly. That is a good sign. And remember that the reason you didn't do what the youngsters do is because you didn't have the opportunity.

One of the best presents a father can make a son is to give him real estate partly paid for. Put the son under obligation to save money and it will be the making of him. Don't be afraid of debt. Debt is the builder of homes and fortune and character — when obligations are honestly met. Put yourself under great obligations and you have to come through. Don't figure on saving money by cutting expenses. Save money by increasing your earning power. As Harry Collins Spillman, great sales expert says: "Your business is to add to the cash value of your personality."

Almost everything you can buy or give to your son will wear out—except real estate. It will always be there. Sensibly bought, it will always be good. Pay for it, and the time will come when it will pay for you.

Today's Events.

Thursday, January 13, 1927.

This is New Year's day by the old-style calendar in use when Ben Franklin was a boy.

Today is the first "13th" in 1927, which is to be a good year for the superstitious as it will have only one "Friday, the 13th."

One hundred years ago today was born Curtis Guild, Boston editor and publisher, who originated and introduced the newspaper display bulletin board.

Today is also the centenary of the birth of Ethelinda Elliot Beers—"Ethel Lynn"—a New York author who wrote the poem, "All Quiet Along the Potomac."

The annual winter meeting of the American Engineering council opened today in Washington, and will continue in session through the remainder of the week.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge will give a reception at the White House this evening in compliment to the members of the judiciary and their families.

Staunton, Virginia, today entered upon its twentieth year under the commission plan of municipal government, having been the first city in the United States to adopt it.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. What is the smallest book in the world? C. E.

A. What is believed to be the smallest book in the world is a Bible four and one-half centimetres in size, owned by the Chicago Historical society.

• • •

Q. How long is a mad dog bite in incubation before being effective in an animal? If a cow has been bitten, is it safe to use her milk? T. W. H.

A. A mad dog bite is in incubation anywhere from three weeks to three months before having effect. The public health service says it is inadvisable to use the milk of a cow bitten by a mad dog at any period.

• • •

Q. How is olive oil made? S. W.

A. Olive oil is prepared from the fruit of the olive trees. The olives are gathered just before the period of maturity, then they are crushed in a mill, pressed in an hydraulic press, then filtered. The best edible oils are not heated.

• • •

Q. How much alcohol should be put in an automobile radiator? P. M. H.

A. For weather down to ten degrees Fahrenheit, twenty per cent. alcohol should be allowed. For zero weather, twenty-five per cent. is needed to prevent freezing. If denatured alcohol is used increase the percentage by approximately fifteen.

A. The linear shelving totals about 250,000 feet, or over forty-seven miles of bookshelves.

Q. Has asparagus been used very long as a vegetable? E. P.

A. It is said that asparagus was a vegetable of the ancient Romans. While in the United States only the sprouts are eaten, in other parts of the world the seeds were largely used for coffee and are still recommended for that purpose in some parts of Europe. A fermented spirit is also made from the berries.

• • •

Q. Do people eat as many doughnuts as they did formerly? C. S. B.

A. The president of the American Institute of Baking says there is a very great increase in the doughnut business. This may be due to the development of automatic machinery for making doughnuts or it may be fundamentally due to some other reason such as perhaps the high energy value of the food, its relative cheapness, and its appetizing flavor.

A. Because of what has been called his "prevision of world events," Kipling is popularly regarded as a prophet.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

Los Angeles, Jan. 13 — Hollywood dinners are mostly buffet. Thus no embarrassment. A hostess may invite fifteen and fifty will arrive. The camaraderie is close knit and "crashing the gate" is not considered a breach of etiquet nor does it offend.

Last night at George Van Cleve's I met most of those who had attained Hollywood celebrity. Tom Mix was there in correct dinner dress but clinging to the wide, white two gallon hat of the pampas. Jack Pickford, who is considered Hollywood's neatest dancer.

Anita Stewart who is going in for voice culture on the side. Fragile Lila Lee and her robust husband, James Kirkwood. Carmel Myers who has a flair for poetry. Charles Christy who with his brother, Al, built the first studio in Hollywood. G. G. Young, the publisher, who collects stamps when not civic promoting. Marion Davis was also there. She is the Hollywood hordeh—the life of every party and considered the best story-teller in the colony. Also Elinor Glyn in severe black with tufts of fiery red hair peeping from under a wide Gainsborough hat.

Bebe Daniels—whose off hours are spent flushing out antiques—and her mother. Several who had come out here for the last great adventure and were in the bloom of rugged health. Cecil De Mille, coming late from the studio, to tell a good story.

It was the sort of party to which I might have taken Aunt Het, who has spells, with her knitting and she would have never dropped a stitch. There was a cycle of songs by a London singer, a duet, a piano number and several amusing slitherings of the Black Bottom.

After some drifted off to bridge, others danced and still others paired off into chatting groups. I am on the trail of a "wild" Hollywood party where they stay out later than midnight. But too many must be at the studios early, it seems, for that.

Elinor Glyn's chief fame perhaps lies in her novel, "Three Weeks." One expects to find an exotic lady a little aflame with varying emotions. She is instead soft spoken, sedate and the sort usually described as "motherly."

It has been a dream when my ship comes in to buy the famous Bernheimer Japanese mansion poised with such delicate grace on the Hollywood hills. Today I met its new owner, Joe Topitzky. He is a New York youth in his thirties with a collegiate look and boyish smile. He is one of those young Americans to spring up like a Jack-in-the-box from nowhere to astounding wealth. His realty holdings are in the millions and his hat fits him still.

There are very few taxicabs in Los Angeles for the simple reason there is one private auto to every three persons in the town. Taxis are used by hotel visitors and in a rain by Los Angelans and that is all. I have always believed ram-shackled, loud-patterned taxis spoiled the beauty of many streets. This is proved in Los Angeles.

Hollywood streets in the evening resemble somewhat the popular notion. Here you see the "sheiks" and "shebas" strolling about. Also those lisping infants whose mouths are pursed in perpetual puckers, thrumming the one-stringed ukes. And hoping to be discovered by Mons. Griffith.—Copyright, 1927.

"He's a fundamentalist and she's a modernist, and they always are scrapping over who is right."

"I didn't know they were so interested in church doctrines."

"Oh, it has nothing to do with the church. He thinks it takes skillets, pots and pans, dish and such things to get a meal, while she is just as sure that it doesn't take anything but a can opener."

"But, madam, you will have to be identified before I can cash this check for you," said the paying teller.

"Oh, I just hate to do it, and George would be dreadfully angry," she replied, blushing furiously, "but I have a love letter here which describes me fully, if you would care to see it."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

There's some horses left in this country. People in the towns often think that the horse has gone out of style, but you ought to see some of the big farms where the horses are still doing all the work. They're in all parts of the country, too.

But it happened to be down in a kind of a rough country in Tennessee that there was a farmer that had a prejudice against automobiles, and kept on driving a horse and cart even after almost everybody else had cars. Not long ago this old party broke his cart, and he wanted to show off a little anyhow, so he went to town and bought a shiny new buggy. I guess the dealer was glad enough to get rid of the buggy. It had been seasoning for twenty years in his loft.

The farmer was going home with his new old horse, and one of the neighbors, chuggin by in an old car, stopped to talk.

"Well, you're kinda swell in your new outfit," says the neighbor. "But you still got a horse hitched to it, I see. Now this here thing ain't so pretty any more, but you never see me feeding it any hay!"

"Hum!" says the conservative. "Mebby so, I ain't sayin'. But did you ever see me pourin' much anti-freeze into this-here nag of mine?" —Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Sunday.

The city papers told of the discovery that a tramp found dead several months before and buried in Findlay was Albert Crondlejim, a nobleman and heir to a large fortune in Sweden.

The saloonists running lunch counters in connection with their saloons again ran their eating places in utter disregard of Mayor Scherf's order.

Miss Dessie Foos and Mr. Raymond Messenger were married at Caledonia by Rev. James Gray.

Rev. George M. Rourke spoke on "Social Activities" at the First Presbyterian church, criticism of some of the local clubs. It was a manifest attempt at sensationalism.

The Columbus papers stated that search was being continued for the body of William Hamilton, a former resident of this city, knocked off a Norfolk and Western train at Little Walnut creek near Columbus, January 2.

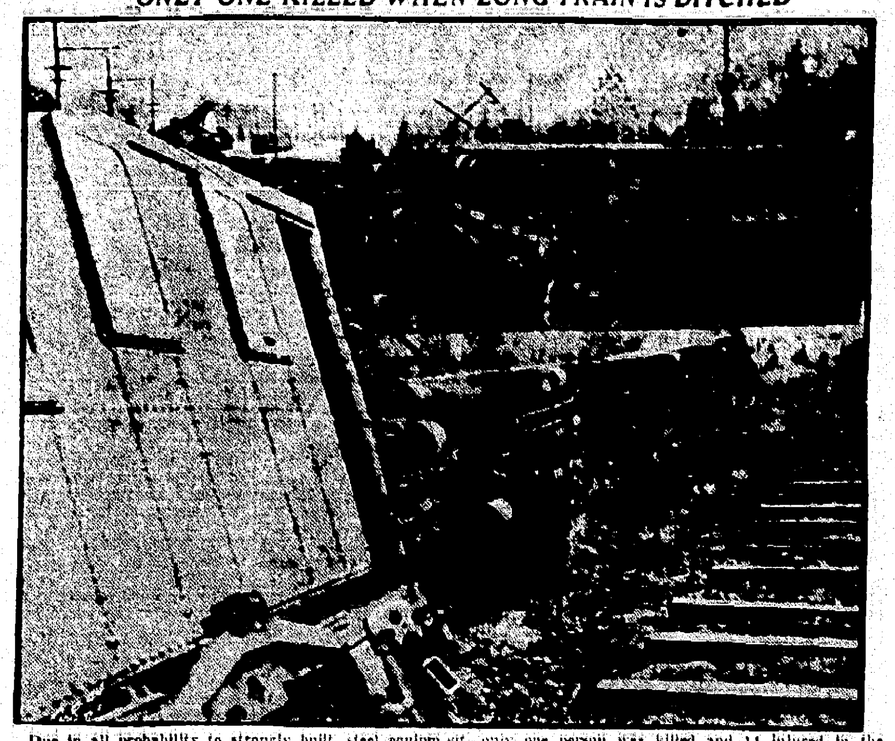
UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Artie Baumgarner, 443 Girard-av, underwent an abdominal operation at City Hospital yesterday morning.

Present a small boy with a watch and he'll have the time of his life.

ONLY ONE KILLED WHEN LONG TRAIN IS DITCHED



Due in all probability to strongly built, steel equipment, only one person was killed and 14 injured in the wreck of an entire train, pictured here. The "Olympian," Seattle to Chicago on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, drawn by a powerful electric locomotive, jumped the track at 6 a. m. on the Rocky Mountain division at Cyr, Montana, 36 miles west of Missoula. Only a baggage and an observation car remained upright. Passengers praised Conductor L. A. Eller of Alberton, Mont., for saving them from broken electric power wires which fell on the steel coaches and made vivid flashes.

COUNCIL ORDERS C., D. & M. TO FIX N. STATE-ST LINE

Instructs City Solicitor George T. Geran To Send Notice to Company

Acting under instruction from City Council, City Solicitor George T. Geran is preparing a notice to be served on the C., D. & M. Electric Co. requesting that the N. State-st line of the local street railway be repaired to provide improved service.

This action is being taken as the result of a formal complaint filed at the last Council meeting by J. A. Wilkins, member from the First ward, who reported that the N. State-st line is in such condition that residents of that section of the city can not ride on the cars in comfort.

Mr. Wilkins expressed the opinion that complete overhauling of the tracks will be necessary. This should include, he asserts, reconstruction of the foundation of the track along the greatest part of the route between the uptown district and E. Ingrouad-st. and installing of new rails in many places.

Ties Loosened

Ties supporting the track have become loosened and should be reload, the First Ward Councilman believes. The notice to be served on the C., D. & M. will not specify how the repair work should be done, however, but will merely request that the line be placed in condition to assure satisfactory service.

Should the C., D. & M. comply with the request, it is likely that paving along the tracks on N. State-st will have to be torn up and relaid in order to make the track repairs possible.

The company's franchise, City Solicitor Geran says, stipulates that the tracks shall be maintained in satisfactory condition and that paving between the rails and one foot on the outside shall be kept in good repair.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Living Loving

LADY, LADY!

OVER the dinner cups the family fell to discussing a young woman who had recently joined the circle of its friends. As was fitting for the man of the house, husband expressed his opinion first.

"She's a good sport!" he declared. "Full of pep; able to take a joke as well as to make one. I like her!"

"So do I!" Wife was in enthusiastic agreement. "She is so genuine. I've seldom met any one with less pretense and more poise than she has. Somehow she gives the impression of stability without stolidity—so often the two qualities are inseparable. I am sure she is going to wear well."

Auntie, listening in, gave a brisk little nod of encouragement.

"She will!" she observed. "She is a real lady!"

At this remark both husband and wife turned aside to hide smiles. Auntie was SO quaint. She didn't seem to realize at all that "Lady" along with the terms "Nice" and "Genteel," had become almost as extinct as the dodo. Then amazement pricked the bubble of their humor. When of late had Auntie expressed such unqualified approval of one of their acquaintances?

"A lady," exclaimed the wife. "Why, Auntie, how can you call her that? She smokes cigarets!"

"I dare say!" Auntie spoke calmly, but a flush mantled her cheek. "Your friend uses slang, too. I overheard her. Nevertheless, she is a lady!"

"What is a lady, Auntie? Tell us. Just what did this young lady do that makes you confer upon her this distinction?"

• • •

"WHEN I was a girl there were three outward and obvious signs of a lady. She never hurried. She never waited upon herself if she could get any one to wait upon her. She never talked about money. You are laughing! I don't wonder. If you were to take this three-detailed definition literally it would deserve being dumped into the ash heap with all the other mid-Victorian things that are obsolete. But when you give it the modern interpretation it is not so inapplicable to today's girl. Even in this bustling age a woman of fine sensibilities is seldom flustered in manner or hasty in judgment, nor so hurried that she ignores reasonable demands made upon her time and attention. Neither is she so steeped in independence that she refuses or does not graciously accept and acknowledge a service rendered her; nor does she determine values by the dollar mark. Outward appearances may have undergone a change but now, just as in that long ago, it is simplicity of soul, friendliness of spirit, an absence of egoism in thinking that characterizes the lady."

Next day the stout Italian—Baldassare Marco—calls on him and demands the handkerchief. Quexter will give him no satisfaction and that afternoon he is kidnapped, made prisoner in a house outside the city and questioned by a Japanese. Left to himself he escapes from the house only to fall into a well. He finds an outlet, swims through it and comes to a door, which he cannot open, but through which finally comes a shaft of light.

Now go on with the story.

A bare hand and arm came slowly through the aperture

CHAPTER TWELVE

Somethink was happening to the door, and I watched it breathlessly. Some sort of panel had slipped back, disclosing a square opening in the middle, through which the light was streaming. Presently a bare hand and arm came slowly through the aperture, and began groping at my side of the door. I held my breath, and could hear the scratch and patter of fingers as the hand probed this way and that. Presently it stopped, and a thumb pressed hard a small knot in the middle of the door. Nothing happened, however, and I heard an expression of annoyance from the unseen owner of the arm. After some further fumbling and pressing, the arm was withdrawn, and I heard a voice saying in French, with a strange foreign accent, which I could not immediately place:

"The door is jammed. I must get some oil."

The arm vanished, and I heard footsteps upon the farther side. The panel, however, was not closed, and creeping up to it, I cautiously applied my eyes to the hole.

This is what I saw. Half lying, half kneeling on a heap of straw was the little man whom I had met at Dijon who had behaved so mysteriously, and who had so strangely disappeared during the night. I recognized him immediately by his oddly contrasting coat and moustache, though he was no longer wearing his horn spectacles. His wrists were bound to his ankles, and his whole body bent back in an attitude of considerable strain. His face was dirty and streaked with sweat, and every now and again he moaned. I no longer had any doubt as to his identity.

It was the man from New York.

Opposite the man from New York was another familiar figure—none other than the fat Italian Baldassare Marco. His back was toward me, and he was shouting something to an unseen person whose steps were faintly retreating. Then he turned to my friend from Dijon, the man who, according to the Japanese whom I had met in the room with the silken hangings, "had to go". Nor was I left long in doubt as to the manner of his going.

"Why not end this ceremony quickly, brother?" said my late companion. "Isn't there any member of this concern who can shoot a gun?"

The Italian laughed.

"Plenty, rio povero Americano," he said in English. "You've got to 'quit', as you say in America. Persons who get up against the Center usually do quit sooner or later, but you ought to feel yourself flattered. The old well has not been used since the Middle Ages. This is the way into Count Emilco's passage. He was a great lord on the lake in the twelfth century, and this house is all that remains of his castle. A fine man was Count Emilco. He disliked strangers who spied upon him and little rats of foreigners. So he gave them the bone of a rat to live in and the death of a rat to die."

The American groaned. This Italian rhetoric was clearly not to his fancy, and I could quite understand his point of view. I was myself overcome with horror as I listened, but before I could make up my mind what to do next I heard footsteps returning. A moment later the door into the cellar was flung open and a little Japanese entered, carrying a lantern which lit up his impassive yellow countenance.

"There is oil," he said, "but where is sack and what have you done with pole?"

Baldassare glared at him.

"What's the matter with you, Fuji? I left them for you to bring along. I suppose I must go and get them myself while you attend to the door."

Baldassare departed, grumbling, up the steps.

The little Japanese hung the lantern on a hook in the middle of the cellar and approached the aperture. I stooped watched his bare yellow arm as it came through the crack and made its way towards the knot of wood. Presently I heard a creaking, and with much protesting the door began to slide sideways into the wall.

At that instant I made up my mind. I crouched down, making myself as small as I could on the side of the wall by which the door was disappearing. Fortunately it had not been used for a long while, for it stuck several times, and finally stopped with some six inches protruding from the wall, thus screening me partially from view. I took a hasty peep at the little Japanese.

His back was towards me, and he was bending down to look at my American friend. I took a stealthy step forward, and raising the leg of the couch, hit him as hard as I could behind the ear. He fell forward with a slight groan beside my late traveling companion.

The American uttered a cry of astonishment.

"It's all right," I assured him. "Quick. We must do something."

I went to the little Japanese and examined him. I had dealt him a shrewd blow. He was quite unconscious, and for all I knew he might be dead. I did not stop to look further, but turned my attention to his prisoner. The late schoolmaster from the Middle West was on his knees, he whispered.

"Don't you remember me," I said. "We met at Dijon yesterday. I'm lending a friendly hand if it's any use to you."

He looked at me, puzzled for a moment, then his expression cleared.

"Holy Mike," he said, "and I had begun to think you were one of the bunch."

I felt in my pocket for a knife.

"Can you lock the cellar door?" he asked. "The Italian will be back in a moment, and we would like to be private."

His voice broke and I saw he was on the edge of hysteria a fact that explained his nervous behavior at Dijon.

I unbolted the lantern and looked at the door. It was of heavy timber and stood ajar. Feeling outside with my hand, I discovered the key. I pushed it out of the lock, shut the door and locked it on the inside.

"It will take him some time to get through that," I said.

My Smile

Shows a row of pearls

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

I am asked by countless people how I got such pretty teeth. And how I keep them sound and glistening at my age.

This is what I tell them.

For many years I spent on my teeth about 30 minutes daily. I used a cleanser, then a polisher, then an antiseptic mouth wash. And I forced magnesia between the teeth to neutralize all acids.

All this I did under dental advice, and I consulted high authorities. But now the great experts have combined all these helps in one tooth paste. I just apply that, and it does in a minute, all I did with many applications.

This new-type dentifrice is called Quindent, which means five in one. It is made by Quindent Laboratories to meet modern requirements. The makers supply me ten-day samples and I will gladly mail one to anyone who asks. The coupon will bring it with my Beauty Book. Even one night's use will bring you new conceptions of a tooth paste.

Endive Salad—Cut well bleached endive in about two inch lengths, add finely chopped onion and enough red and green sweet pepper cut in small pieces to give coloring. Season with salt and pepper and add vinegar and oil dressing.

Cottage Pudding—For cottage pudding with quince snow, cream one-quarter cup shortening, add one cup sugar slowly, one well beaten egg and one teaspoon vanilla, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder, and add to first mixture a little at a time, alternating with one cup milk. This fills two good sized pans but is good baked in a loaf or muffin tins in a moderate oven and may be used in many ways, iced or served with chocolate or lemon or marshmallow sauce.

Quince Snow—For quince snow, cook ripe quinces till soft, press through sieve. To each cup of quince, sweetened, add one egg white and beat with an egg beater. Apples might be used in place of the quinces and the whole flavored with quince jelly.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

MADGE'S DISCOURSE

At Dicky's excited and angry muttering, Lillian reached over and laid a placating hand upon his.

"Cut the cheeping, Dicky-bird," she told him, "and remember where you are. You'll make yourself the laughing stock of the room if you—"

She broke off abruptly as young Leslie, who had been making his way toward our table, suddenly stopped close beside us. I braced myself to receive the invitation to dance with him, which Lillian had warned me I must accept, but to my great relief, and I think to the astonishment of both men, the dancer bent low before Lillian, and as her escape arising, whirled her off with him.

"Well, I'll be—broadcasted—" Dicky ejaculated, and Mr. Veritzen laughed comprehendingly.

"He's staging the prelude," he said, but when young Leslie returned Lillian to her seat, he only bowed rather stiffly to me and immediately afterward chose a partner from another table.

Madge Dances With Jack

I relaxed in my seat with a feeling of relief, which, however, was destined to be but short lived, for when the dancer had returned two young women to their tables, he made his way back to ours, and asked me with elaborate courtesy to dance with him.

With Lillian's admonition still in my ears, I rose, and the next instant, feeling more conspicuous and embarrassed than I ever had done in my life, I was whirling around the floor in Jack Leslie's arms.

I had taken but a few steps, however, before I realized that never before had I known what rhythm and beauty there could be in dancing steps. I love dancing, and Dicky and I always have found our steps wonderfully suited to each other, but in Jack Leslie's clasp, I seemed literally to float over the floor. The man was so objectionable to me that I fairly loathed myself for the consciousness that my love of rhythm had conquered all other feelings, and I was actually enjoying the dance.

We circled the floor two or three times in silence, then he spoke softly:

Jack Speaks of Mary

"You are a wonderful dancer, Mrs. Graham. I am glad to have the opportunity to dance with you. But I am sorry not to see your young niece."

"She is never out as late as this," I said a bit crisply, with the remembrance of the anxiety I had had over Mary on account of her chance acquaintance with this youth.

An oddly derisive smile touched his lips, then fled as quickly. I pondered it dispiritingly. It might mean that he did not believe me, or that he considered archaic the prohibitions surrounding Mary's life. Either way I resented it, but his next words were disarming.

"Of course," he said. "I should have remembered her extreme youth. I really would like to see her again. She seems to have disappeared from the earth. I never meet her any more."

I ignored the subtle appeal for permission to see Mary.

"She is very much occupied with her work," I said.

Confession of Lopez Again Stirs Mellett Murder Case

FIVE PERSONS TOOK PART IN KILLING, CLAIM

Canton Authorities Fail To Become Excited Over New Disclosure

Columbus, Jan. 13—All suspicion that Jack Lopez, Laredo, Texas, prisoner, might have participated in the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton, Ohio, Daily News publisher, at Canton last July, was eliminated here today when Gov. Vic Donahey was informed that Lopez was in jail at Sharon, Pa., the night Mellett was murdered.

Despite this information, however, officials at the governor's office voiced belief that statements contained in Lopez' alleged confession that he took part in the murder of Mellett might prove helpful to Stark county officials in connection with their prosecution of other persons believed to have taken part in the Mellett murder.

* * *

Columbus, Jan. 13—Claim that five persons, including Pat McDermott, Louis Mazer, Jack Lopez, a man named Palmer and another man, known as "Jackie the Greek", of Chicago, participated in the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton, Ohio, Daily News, at Canton last July, is contained in an alleged written confession, signed by Lopez and submitted to Prosecuting Attorney Henry W. Harter, Jr., at Canton, by C. H. Sisson, special investigator for Gov. Vic Donahey, it became known here today.

McDermott, convicted recently of murdering Mellett, is serving life in the Ohio Penitentiary. Mazer is awaiting trial at Canton on a first degree murder charge in connection with Mellett's death.

Lopez, a prisoner at Laredo, Texas, has been ordered deported to Mexico, following conviction of a crime in Pennsylvania.

Brings Confession

Officials at the office of Governor Donahey today explained that Sisson was sent to Laredo to interview Lopez after the governor received a letter from an U. S. immigration official there, in which belief was expressed that Lopez was "the real murderer of Mellett."

Returning to Columbus with Lopez confession, Sisson conferred with Governor Donahey and then went to Cleveland Tuesday where he conferred with federal authorities. From Cleveland, Sisson went to Canton, where he presented the confession to Prosecutor Harter Wednesday, it was stated.

Lopez told Sisson, it was stated at the governor's office, that McDermott, Mazer, Lopez, Palmer and "Jackie the Greek", drove in a Stutz car to Mellett's home the night of the murder and that McDermott, "Jackie the Greek" and Lopez fired the shots at Mellett, while Mazer remained in the auto to watch Palmer, the driver, who, according to Lopez, was distrusted, the other members of the party fearing he might drive off and leave them in the lurch, if someone did not remain in the machine with him.

Officials at the governor's office declared that a number of the statements made by Lopez have been corroborated, but that others have not.

Refuse Indictment

Since Sisson's return from Texas, it was stated, Governor Donahey has been told before Lopez bore a reputation for confessing that he committed, or participated in a number of "murders." Taking no stock in Lopez's alleged confessions, authorities at Canton and elsewhere, the governor's was told, have consistently refused to indict Lopez.

Despite the fact that Lopez' alleged confession might turn out to be worthless, Governor Donahey, it was stated, felt that, in view of the positive declaration of the Texas federal immigration officer that Lopez helped murder Mellett, he felt that nothing should be left undone that might aid in properly punishing the murderers of Mellett. It was for this reason, it was said, that Sisson was sent to interview Lopez.

Officials at the governor's office were confident, they stated today, that Lopez was in Canton when Mellett was murdered.

State authorities here were told that the order of deportation to Mexico was based upon the belief that Lopez was a Mexican. It is reported, however, that Mexican authorities claimed Lopez is not a Mexican citizen and will not permit him to enter Mexico.

Some state officials here today voiced the opinion that Lopez, knowing some of the facts connected with the Mellett murder, but not being a participant in the crime itself, concocted his latest alleged confession in the hope that, as a result, he would be returned to Canton and liberated there after the authorities declared they could make no case against him.

PAT M'DERMOTT BECOMES A "NUMBER"

Columbus, Jan. 13—Wise-cracking Patrick Eugene McDermott, convicted slayer of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, lost his moniker here today and became No. 56,488 on the records of P. E. Thomas, warden of the Ohio state penitentiary.

McDermott arrived at the prison late yesterday to begin his life sentence and got a close-up view of the death house and electric chair he escaped when the jury which found him guilty of first degree murder recommended mercy.

The Irish boy from Nanty Glo, Pa., grinned and beamed as usual when he and six Stark county deputies rolled to the prison entrance in a big touring car.

"Your initials and mine are the same," Patrick Eugene told the warden as that official put his official "P. E. Thomas" to a document the Canton authorities brought with them.

Not in Jovial Mood

The warden wasn't in the humor for jokes and McDermott's bon mot was lost on the grim stones of the high prison walls.

McDermott gave his occupation as barber, but it is expected he will not labor at that trade for the present. Warden Thomas said today McDermott would not be assigned for any particular duty for the present.

Just before the arrival of McDermott, penitentiary attaches received Montrose Hickman, convicted at Chillicothe with his brother, John, for the killing of Patrolman Dan Garrett.

Hickman became No. 56187 and is to serve a second degree murder life sentence.

ing the January term of common pleas court. The four women and 11 men drawn from the jury wheel all reported last Monday morning. There were no excuses brought in by anyone as to why they could not serve. Judge Scofield commented on this in taking the report yesterday.

Inspect Jail

In the inspection of the jail Tuesday the grand jurors recommended that repairs be made in the toilets.

The men indicted will be arraigned Saturday morning in common pleas court and allowed to plead. Those pleading not guilty will be assigned hearing during the January term.

Indictments returned were against:

R. E. Bishop, indicted on a statutory charge, for an alleged attack on a girl on Nov. 30.

Henry Bryant, indicted on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, following his arrest on Nov. 9.

Earl McMillen, indicted on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, also arrested on Nov. 9.

Richard McKinney, indicted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Henry Johnson on Oct. 26.

Albert Morrow, indicted on a charge of stealing the automobile of Perry J. Wayland, on Dec. 2.

Two Counts

John Baker, indicted on two counts, operating an automobile while intoxicated, and also charged with driving an auto without regard for the safety of others. The offense with which he is charged took place on Oct. 3.

Ellery Jerson, two indictments returned on charges growing out of the robbery of the Sinclair Refining Co. office on Dec. 23. One indictment charged him with burglary, it being charged that he was involved in the theft of $11.35 in money and $11.81 in checks from the office. The other charge against him is carrying concealed weapons.

ONE HUNDRED PERSONS ENJOY MOOSE DINNER

Charles Isaly Furnishes Roast for Annual Affair at Y. M. C. A.

One hundred members of the Business Men's Club and their wives enjoyed the annual moose dinner given last night at the Y. M. C. A.

Charles Isaly furnished the moose and Wesley M. E. Church ladies served the roast.

A splendid program was offered following the banquet. A girls' quartet, composed of Misses Janet Trott, Mary Heininger, Elma Sage and Ruth Brown, accompanied by Miss Jessie Brown, sang two selections. Both songs were parodies on members of the Business Men's Club.

A three-act play, a comedy skit on the home and office life of Mr. Isaly, was next offered with Clyde Coulter and Miss Kathryn Stisher taking the part of Mr. and Mrs. Isaly. Miss Ardis Boyer and Miss Janet Trott also took part in the acts.

John H. Clark gave a short address and Roy Waddell summed up the activities of the Y. M. C. A. in a brief talk. Charles Isaly gave an interesting and thrilling account of his experiences in shooting the moose which was served last night.

The program was brought to a close by a comedy skit by Richard Zachman, assisted by Miss Dorothy Zeig. Mr. Zachman entertained with the musical saw and vocal selections.

Mrs. Retterer had made her home in Marion County practically all her life. She was the daughter of Elias McNeal and George Hinamon, both old residents of Marion County. She was born in Richland Township. Her husband, George Retterer, preceded her in death 23 years ago. She was a member of the Lutheran Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Columber of near Radnor, and Miss Florence Retterer, 842 Woodrow-av, two sons, Lee Allen Retterer of West Mansfield, and John Retterer of Prospect; one sister, Miss Sophia Hinamon of Richland Township; one brother, George Hinamon of this city; three stepchildren, Charles and Frank Retterer, 437 Park-blvd, and Benjamin Retterer of Prospect.

Robert Glosser, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glosser, 650 Mt. Vernon-av, is at his home with a badly bruised head and body as a result of his sled striking a tree while he was coasting on the Indian Mound, south of Mt. Vernon-av Tuesday afternoon.

The boy had gone to the Mound after school to coast, and his sled crashed into a tree on one of the trips down the Mound. He was taken home and was unconscious for a time, but is now on the way to recovery, it was said today.

New Erie President Visits Marion on Inspection Tour

John J. Bernet and Staff Remain in City Over Night

John J. Bernet, newly-elected president of the Erie Railroad, last night paid Marion a visit, while on a tour of general inspection over the road.

Arriving here late yesterday afternoon, Mr. Bernet and members of his staff remained in this city over night and departed for eastern stations early today. Mr. Bernet is touring the Erie Railroad from Chicago to New York.

Accompanying the president of the Erie were W. A. Baldwin, executive vice president; R. C. Faulkner, chief engineer; F. G. Robbins, regional vice president, and other members of the staff.

Mr. Bernet was recently appointed chief executive of the Erie Railroad, succeeding Frederick O. Underwood, who filled that office for many years. It was his first visit in Marion since his appointment to the office of president.

President Bernet's offices are in New York City and his general inspection trip will probably come to an end at that point.

NEW INDUSTRY TO BEGIN WORK IN SHORT TIME

Lumber Mill Facing Problem of Finding Outlet to Plant; Construction Completed

Another new industry is expected to start operations in Marion within the next few days and will probably get under way on scheduled time in spite of the fact that the owner has thus far been unable to obtain land for opening a thoroughfare needed as an outlet for the plant.

The new industry is a hardwood lumber mill to be operated south of Bellefontaine-av near the Pennsylvania railway by George Seiter, a farmer and lumber man residing near Prospect. Construction of the mill building has been completed and equipment is now being installed in preparation for beginning operations, although Seiters' efforts to arrange for an adequate thoroughfare leading up to his plant have failed up to this time.

Petitions Council

Mr. Seiter appeared before City Council several weeks ago and requested that the city start condemnation proceedings for opening of Gill-av from its southern terminus to the new lumber mill but Council, it was stated today, has refused to take this step unless Mr. Seiter agrees to foot the cost.

Because of the benefit the city will derive from the mill, which will employ about 15 men, Mr. Seiter and his attorney, J. W. Jacoby, recently expressed the opinion before Council that the city could afford to bear the expense of the street opening.

A committee from Council, headed by T. J. Mead, investigated the matter and has decided that the city should not start the condemnation suit unless the expense is paid by Seiter. The report, it was stated today, has been unanimously approved by all Council members.

Temporary Outlet

In the meantime a cinder driveway running across the Pennsylvania Railway Co.'s property will serve the mill temporarily. Mr. Seiter states, however, that a street the width of the proposed Gill-av extension is needed for hauling in the large pieces of timber that will be used in the plant's operations and also for conveying finished products from the mill.

Mr. Seiter has not decided upon his plans for obtaining the street extension but indicates that he will probably agree to the city's terms.

J. W. Jacoby and John Ruffner, owners of the three lots which are needed in part for the street extension, have agreed to deed the land without charge provided Mr. Seiter completes arrangements for the extension. The third lot is owned by heirs of John H. Kinsler and Mr. Seiter has been unable to come to terms with them. As a consequence, the condemnation suit will probably be necessary to fix a price on the Kinsler property.

TREASURER'S OFFICE TO BE OPEN ONE NIGHT

Department Decides To Extend Courtesy to Taxpayers; Collection Continues Strong

Payment of taxes on city property will be aided next week when the treasurer's office will be kept open one night to enable persons who cannot reach the office during the regular hours to get in before the time limit for paying expires.

Monday night, Jan. 17, from 7 until 9 o'clock the treasurer's office will be open for payment of taxes. This will be an opportunity for many persons, as there are several plants paying employes around Jan. 15, and property owners will have the money available.

Collection of taxes has continued strong from the first day. The number of payers has been steady, but so far few have had to stand in line and the work has been handled without any rush or inconvenience to the taxpayers so far.

partment, was in "the position of having a bear by the tail, which left the department nothing to do but to hang on."

Notwithstanding these opposition views it was apparent today that the administration can command a majority in favor of its policy at any time the matter come to a vote. Senator Wheeler's resolution demanding the recall of marines from Nicaragua seems destined to die in committee, unless there is a change in majority sentiment on the floor.

The case, pro and con, however, will be sharply discussed.

SEVERANCE OF RELATIONS SEEN

Mexico City, Jan. 13—A severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico at an early date was regarded as inevitable as the reaction here to the publication of Secretary of State Kellogg's charges to the senate committee that the soviet government of Russia was operating here and in Central America against the interests of the United States.

The early recall of Ambassador Sheffield was presaged, as the ambassador is generally regarded as being responsible for the state department's vigorous attitude toward the protection of American rights.

Clear Declaration

The secretary of state's charges, coming on the heels of President Coolidge's message to congress was regarded as a clear declaration of the Coolidge administration's determination to carry out its policy for the protection of American interests in the region between Panama and the Rio Grande against the alleged activites of bolshevik interests.

While a strict silence was maintained in Mexican official circles regarding Secretary Kellogg's charges, Madame Kollontay, role minister of the soviet government in the Americas, was outspoken in her contradiction of the charges.

"Absurd," she said when informed of Mr. Kellogg's statement to the senate committee. "Mr. Kellogg can not have information relative to a thing which does not exist."

LOCAL LEGION POST TO ATTEND STATE MEETING

Delegation from Marion Competes Arrangements for Columbus Conference

Arrangements have been completed for a delegation representing Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, of the American Legion, to attend a state meeting of Legion Post commanders and other officials to be held Saturday night and Sunday in Columbus.

The Marion representatives will be A. W. Sandrock, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, T. E. Kinnear, adjutant, and Charles Howard, William R. Martin and Harland Kerr, who also hold office in the local organization.

The Columbus meeting will open Saturday night with a banquet at the Neil House and an all-day conference will be held Sunday in the Columbus Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of discussing a program of Legion activities throughout the state during 1927.

CAR INSPECTION

To Be Made By Coroner After Traffic Deaths

Cincinnati, Jan. 13—Automobiles figuring in traffic deaths will be hereafter seized by County Coroner F. C. Swing and held for mechanical inspection, that official announced today.

The official stated that he would hold an automobile in a traffic death inquiry, just the same as he would hold a revolver in a murder inquiry, and if the owner was found to be criminally negligent of driving a car while it was in dangerous mechanical condition the owner would be held for grand jury action.

Crawford County Citizens Up In Arms Over Prospect of Increase in Tax Charges

Taxpayers' League Formed at Mass Meeting To Fight Boost; Claim Properties on Duplicate for More Than Actual Value

Crawford County citizens, up in arms over the prospect of increased taxes resulting from a reappraisal of real estate which has been in progress during the last few months and is now nearing completion, lined up for battle last night at a mass meeting held in the Bucyrus courthouse and took steps to organize a Taxpayers' League which will handle the present situation and also represent the public in all future controversies.

The throng which assembled at the courthouse last night was made up of more than 1,000 citizens from all sections of the county, according to estimates of leaders in the movement.

Although the new appraisal has not been completed in all of its details, it is practically certain that it will result in an increase of about $9,000,000 in the county's tax duplicate.

Charge Inequalities

At last night's mass meeting, it was announced that many properties have been listed at more than their market value and that there are numerous inequalities.

Whether the newly organized Taxpayers' League will take action to prevent collection of taxes on the new valuations this year had not been definitely decided today, according to a statement made by Arthur Schuler, Bucyrus mayor, who was selected as president of the organization. He presided at last night's mass meeting.

"If the League does not take such action, I anticipate that efforts to prevent the new valuations from going into effect will be made by citizens, hundreds of whom have indicated that they plan to file protests," Mayor Schuler said. "I would not be surprised to see the matter carried into court should the state tax commission fail to act."

The tax rates for this year have been announced by the Crawford County treasurer, and although lower than those of last year, the reductions have not been sufficient to prevent higher taxes figured on the new valuations, Mayor Schuler says.

Named Secretary

Arden Wisman, Bucyrus attorney, was elected secretary of the new League and today he and Mayor Schuler were to decide upon appointment of 10 citizens who will serve as an executive committee. It is expected that this committee, acting with Schuler and Wisman, will decide upon a course of action today.

As an indication that valuations fixed in the reappraisal are in many cases too high, Mayor Schuler pointed out that the owner of a Bucyrus business property stated last night that he would pay a commission of $20,000 to any persons who will sell the property at the appraised value.

Raises Valuation,

The new appraisal raises the tax value of property in the city of Bucyrus from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, it is stated, and increases in other Crawford County localities are of about the same proportion, officers of the league say.

That dissatisfaction is general throughout the county was apparent from the fact that no locality was without representation at last night's mass meeting. The delegation from Galion, it is reported, filled a traction car to capacity and many others made the trip in automobiles.

"Crawford County citizens are opposed to a high scale of tax valuations," Mayor Schuler stated today, "because it provides public officials too much of an opportunity to obtain revenue for increased government cost."

THREE YOUTHS CHARGED WITH CHICKEN THEFTS

Arrests Made When Police Officers Follow Traces in Snow; Owner Awakened

When thieves entered the poultry house of H. A. Zuspan at the rear of his home, 263 Park-blvd, about 3 o'clock this morning, squawks of protest from the feathered occupants were so vociferous that Mr. Zuspan was awakened and summoned police. Shortly afterward three boys, two residents of this city and one from Mt. Vernon, were placed under arrest as suspects.

Tracks in the snow, leading from the Zuspan property to the home of two of the boys, resulted in their arrest, police say. The youths are held at the city prison while the case is being investigated with possibility the charges may be filed this afternoon either in Municipal Court or Juvenile Court.

The youthful suspects are Chester and Ralph Henry, ages 18 and 19, respectively, of 460 W. Columbia-st, and Lloyd Biggs, 18, of Mt. Victory. They were taken into custody at the Henry home, the police report shows.

Several fowls found in the boys' possession were identified by Mr. Zuspan as his property, it is claimed.

"POSITIVE AGITATION"

A perfected principle in home cleaning service, sponsored by the world's oldest and largest maker of electric cleaners

The GREATER HOOVER

OLD—old as housekeeping itself; yet new—new as tomorrow morning: this is "Positive Agitation" as embodied in the sensational new Hoover.

Nothing has ever resembled The Greater Hoover. It is new, startling, revolutionary! It far surpasses even the standard-design Hoover in these particulars:

1 For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings.

2 By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up from carpetings an average of 131% more dirt.

3 It is an even greater rug-saver; the oftener a carpet is cleaned with a Hoover the longer that carpet will wear.

4 It is virtually service-proof; every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling.

LORAIN LIONS DEFEAT KENTON BY 55-22 SCORE

Roaring Visitors Get Away at Start of Game and Overwhelm Reds

Kenton, Jan. 13—The Kenton Reds entertained a cage filled with five Lions here last night by getting defeated in a one-sided game 55 to 22. They selected as their opponents the famous Lorain Lions of the Central Ohio Basketball league.

The Kenton Reds were composed of local players who were filling the shoes of the regular stars. The regulars are on a short trip in northern Ohio at the present.

With a roar the Lions jumped into the lead at the first of the contest and at the half had piled up a total of 24 points to the local aggregation's seven.

In the last half the Reds stepped on the starter collecting a few extra baskets but couldn't equal the scoring pace set by the Lorain crew. Earlier in the season the Lions were defeated at Lorain by the Kenton Reds regulars.

Play Marion Tonight

Tonight the visitors will play in Marion Isaly Dairies at Marion. Whether or not the Dairy club has heard the roar of the Lions they will meet one of the stiffest clubs on the road.

Carter was the high scoring man on the Kenton team caging two field goals and three fouls. Bowers hit the basket for three goals for six points. Tough luck followed in the footsteps of the local quintet with the ball almost flatly refusing to go through the nets.

In the preliminary battle the Dayton Cubs were chalked up winners over the United Presbyterian Church team by a score of 31 to 10. The Dayton crew outclassed the locals.

19 STATES SEND HENS TO CONTEST

McCORMICK, S. C., Jan. 13—Because of the second annual Southeastern Egg-laying Demonstration conducted by Clemson college, the state agricultural school, McCormick has become a town of pullets and eggs.

From every section and state in the south poultry fanciers have entered their prize hens.

The contest has provided a tremendous impetus to the poultry industry in the southern states. Nineteen states are represented at the demonstration.

The contest is being managed by Arthur Gannon, of the poultry department of Clemson college.

While the average poultryman does not have time to do trapnesting, this affair is enabling him to have a few of his best pullets trapnested with the result that those who make records of 200 eggs or more are being certified by the American Record of Performance Council, the national organization for the registration of poultry. The hens are removed from the traps seven times daily.

In the older poultry producing sections of the country egg-laying contests and experimental work have been carried on for years but until recently little of this work has been attempted in the south. The contest at McCormick fulfills a need of the poultrymen of the southeast in obtaining records and information of practical value about fowls.

HOPE TO START PAVING OF BELLEFONTAINE-RD

Improvement of Route No. 53 Depends Upon Availability of Funds

Kenton, Jan. 13—Work on paving State Route No. 53, between Kenton and Bellefontaine, will be started in the summer if funds are available to the state highway department, according to a statement by George F. Schlesinger, director of highways and public works in Ohio.

This route, which strikes Northwood, is 23 miles in length, and was definitely chosen this week over the route previously considered—the route to Bellefontaine via Rushylvania, Big Springs and Ridgeway. The latter route had been favored because it was recently widened and is receiving the bulk of the traffic. However, it is not a state road.

Completion of the proposed improvement would open up a complete paved highway between Toledo and Cincinnati, direct.

Mt. Gilead, Jan. 13—Mt. Gilead stepped back into the winning column when the Senior High and Junior High took both ends of a double bill from the Edison High teams at Edison. The Senior High boys won 27 to 17, while the Junior High lads took the big end of a 11-to-0 score.

Coach Matheny used eight men in the Senior High game, giving most of the squad a chance to break into the fray. White and Makeever, forwards, showed up well and accounted for 25 of the local's points. Captain Zolman, who has been shifted back to his guard position added great defensive strength to the team.

The local girls will meet the high powered Mansfield Y. W. in the curtain raiser. The Richland County team is considerably out of a high school class. Local fans will have an opportunity to see the team in action that scored 63 points against Gilead in the first game of the season.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. G. Edling, New York business woman, says stomach gas made life a burden, but Adlerika helped her so much that she can enjoy life again. "There's nothing like it for gas and constipation," says Mrs. Edling.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Doctors Praise Adlerika

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Patsy's Patter

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

AS was expected, Commissioner Landis has exonerated the players mentioned in "Swede" Risberg's charges, of any connection with thrown games. The explanation given by the defendants—that the money supposed to have been given the Detroit players as payment for "sloughing" games, was really a bonus for having defeated the Boston team, was probably the true one. Commissioner Landis knew, when he took hold of the affairs of organized baseball after the crooked series of 1919, that the practice complained of in the latest scandal, was a common thing in the big leagues. He probably knew of this specific case. His airing of the charges at this time was a good publicity stunt—for himself. But, while it may not do the game any harm, it is certain that it will not do it any good.

Now if the learned judge is sincere in his efforts to give baseball a thorough cleaning, let him take up the cases of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker. Let him prove that they are not fit to play the national game, or that they are innocent of any intentional wrongdoing. These two men are probably better known than all the defendants in the case which has just been closed. Their guilt or innocence means as much, if not more, to the good name of baseball than the combined records of the score or more who were involved in the Risberg charges.

A VETERAN 39-year-old baseball player who was unconditionally released by Brooklyn has been the center of spirited bidding by four major league teams. The Chicago Cubs, New York Giants, Washington Senators and New York Yanks were seeking the services of old Zach Wheat. It is thought that three of the teams valued Wheat mostly as a pinch hitter, but the Giants would probably use the slugging fielder regularly, since Irish Meusel is gone, and sickness is likely to keep Ross Young out of the lineup.

Now comes Connie Mack, who was not mentioned in the bidding at all, and quietly signs Wheat for the Athletics, expressing the opinion that the veteran was the man needed to make him satisfied with the "As" for next season.

Winter sports have developed a new industry for the big cold storage plants in Chicago. When natural snow is lacking for the ski slides, the artificial product is scraped from the ammonia pipes in the refrigerating plants and used to cover the slides. A large amount of it has been used this Winter and has been found a very satisfactory substitute.

WILBERT ROBINSON has intimated that he intends to rebuild the Dodgers with young blood. The passing of Zach Wheat and Jacques Fournier from the Brooklyn line-up is a sign of his intention. However, in rebuilding a ball club, the main idea seems to be a judicious mixture of veterans and youngsters, rather than the absence of the old-timers, and Robinson realizes that necessity as well as any manager in the game.

The veterans of a ball club have a steadying influence on the rookies, and it is by their deeds, and from their lips that the youngsters learn the finer points of the game. Look at the rosters of a championship club and you will see that several veterans play their parts in steering the ship over the rough waters. It will ever be thus where the league limit permits 25 men.

"Skijoring" is a very popular Winter pastime in the Scandinavian countries. For this sport a number of women are lined up on skis behind a number of men. Round each man's waist is a cord, the ends of which are grasped by the woman behind. At the starting signal each man skates off at top speed, with the women bending low on their skis as they are tugged swiftly over the smooth ice. Prizes are awarded to the pair who are the first to pass the winning-post.

"YOU hear a lot about boxers being overpaid," remarked a fairly well known heavyweight the other day, "but you hear of only a few such as Dempsey, Tunney, Delaney, Berlenbach, etc. I have had a pretty good record for three years and have won about 80 per cent of my fights, and I have made barely enough to live on and hire an occasional sparring partner. About 90 per cent of those in the game make just a bare living, if that much. The others make a killing, but they get most of it. This is the toughest game of them all in that respect. If you're not around the top you may be lucky to eat. And if you've taken a year to reach a certain spot and then take one knockout you start from the bottom again."

Ross Young, right fielder for the New York Giants, has been ill since before the close of the 1926 baseball season and has been in a hospital at San Antonio, Tex., most of that time. Young is suffering from a kidney disease and it is doubtful whether he will be able to join his team this season, although he expressed confidence that he will be able to return to the diamond this summer.

Physicians at the hospital have said that he was improving very slowly and it would be a long time before he would be able to leave his bed.

Harding to Play First N. C. O. Tilt at Mansfield

To Meet Old Rivals in Game on Richland County Gym Floor Friday Night

Both Teams Composed of Players Who Fought to Disputed Tie on Gridiron Last Season; Large Crowd Expected To Follow Team on Trip

THE lively set of cagers representing Harding High School will meet the first North Central Ohio League opposition of the season, Friday night, when they step into action on the Mansfield High court with the husky Mansfield crew as their opponents.

Mansfield's last victory was registered last Saturday night when the boys from the Richland County seat nosed out Columbus East in an overtime battle, winning 15 to 13. The game with East was not at all brilliant basketball, according to reports in Mansfield's newspapers, but was featured by good defense work on the part of both teams.

Many Grid Stars

Mansfield this year has a cage team composed of many of their famous football champions. McMullen, captain of the grid team last year and a stellar backguard on the basketball squad last season, is again in that position. His height and fast pass work has bewildered a number of Mansfield's opponents this season and was largely responsible for the low score in the game with East.

Hall, well-known figure on the gridiron, having played quarterback for a couple of seasons, will fill the position of center, although Courtney, a substitute, won the game against Columbus East by dropping in the tying and winning field goal after being placed in Hall's position.

Martin and Ealy

Bob Martin, who will be remembered as the punter and star end in the Mansfield-Harding football clash, plays running guard. Ealy, the other end, will be found at one forward, and Garver, who is the only player not well-known in Marion, plays the other forward.

The more mention of the names of Hall, McMullen, Ealy, Martin, and others is enough to interest Harding High sport followers in the battle to be waged in Richland County Friday.

The Harding High basketball squad is also composed of youths who figured on the gridiron last season in the much disputed Mansfield game and are as well-known to the Mansfield aggregation.

Harding Lineup Doubtful

Shults and McAninch, who started the game at guards last week against Limb Central, were principal characters in the Harding-Mansfield football tie. Shults played end and McAninch filled a half position. Joe Hinnert at center, was active in the football game, while Garrett and Evans were also on the gridiron. Gillis did not don a football suit but that has nothing to do with his basketball ability.

Just what the starting lineup will be at Mansfield is not known and probably will not be known until the lads pull off their sweat shirts to get into action. Various combinations last week worked in fine shape, and Coach Compton has a tough job ahead to decide just who will work right and when.

Rivals

Mansfield and Harding have always been natural rivals and athletics rivalry this year has become greater than ever before. A large number of Marion fans are expected to follow the snappy local outfit to Mansfield and a good-sized crowd of rooters will decorate the benches.

The game will be called at 8:15 o'clock.

FORM ANOTHER VOLLEY LEAGUE OF SIX TEAMS

Regular Representative Squad Holds Practice Sessions

With the close of the Business Men's Volleyball League last night, F. O. Rudolph, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., has announced a new league, composed of six teams, which will operate during the remainder of the season.

In selecting the six teams, Mr. Rudolph eliminated 10 of the best volleyball players in Marion who will practice every Tuesday and Thursday in preparation for out-of-town games and games here with visiting volleyballers. John H. Clark is again manager of the representative team and is arranging games for the men.

Last year, Marion's representative team took the state championship and made a good run for the national title.

The other six teams will begin play next Wednesday night and continue during the season. The first games will be played between Hildebrand and Brown's teams, Murphy and Coulter's teams, and Clark and Cunningham's volleyballers.

Personnel of the teams is as follows:

Hildebrand, captain: Dr. Brady, Barnhart, Riddell, Hane, Krantz, Rowland, Tschanen, Mantz and Granger.

Clark, captain: Patton, Lawson, Glosser, Walter Bailey, Van Deinse, McDaniel, Key, Torrence, and Grundy.

Cunningham, captain; Tim Fahey, Kleinmaier, Moore, Ballinger, Teitlebaum, Barud, Morrison, Raumuth and Walters.

Dr. Murphy, captain: Hector Young, Walters, Sage, Bartlett, Dr. Kissel, Martindell, Llewellyn, and Strelitz.

PLEASANT AND CALEDONIA CAGE TEAMS PLAY FRIDAY

Pleasant Girls Have Edge, While Boys' Quintets Are on Equal Terms

Caledonia, Jan. 13.—While Pleasant Township girls have the odds in their favor when they clash with the Caledonia girls' basketball team at Pleasant Township gym Friday night, the boys are on even terms.

Double interest is placed in the girls' game because of the fact that the Caledonia and Pleasant girls are the only two undefeated squads in the eastern Marion County league. Friday's winners will be undisputed leaders of the league and favorites for the title of the west section.

Pleasant girls defeated Waldo girls on the Waldo floor last week by a large score and look like winners any place. They will have the advantage of their home floor Friday. While Pleasant Township boys will have the home floor advantage, Caledonia boys are rated a little higher in standing and should be good enough to even the home floor odds.

LORAIN LIONS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Nominating HUBERT PRUETT

BECAUSE, called done once, he is coming back to the big show as a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Because he possesses one of the most mystifying deliveries in baseball, a "screw ball" that comes up to the plate slowly as big as a balloon and then, just as the batter swings, seems to fade away to the size of a pea.

Because this shoot baffled no less a personage than Babe Ruth the Mighty, who struck out 10 of the 11 times he faced Pruett in 1922 when the hurler was with the Detroit Tigers.

Because Pruett hopes to laugh at the experts who said that the delivering of the weird shoot would end his pitching days inside of a few short years.

And because his acquisition by the Pirates relieves Ruth's mind for at least another year as the Babe was haunted with the spectre of Herb's left arm all the while the flinger was in the minors, fighting for another chance in the big show, Ruth's only chance of facing him now is in a world's series.

Dempsey Hands Everything Over to Rickard

New York, Jan. 13—Jack Dempsey is willing to place his activities in the hands of Tex Rickard, even to the extent of meeting the winner of Rickard's heavyweight elimination, Leonard Sachs, secretary to the ex-champion, said today.

Sachs held a long distance conversation with Dempsey last night, he said, and that Jack, abandoning his demand for a return bout with Tunney without further ado, has decided to string along with Rickard's plans.

Promise of Possible Developments in Speaker Scandal After Risberg Verdict

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Jan. 13—There was a vague yet conscious promise today of possible developments in the scandal of Cobb and Speaker versus organized—or disorganized—baseball, hard upon Judge Landis' verdict of acquittal for Eddie Collins, Schalk, Rush, Rowland, Dauss Ehmke and other defendants charged by Swede Risberg with being accessories to a "barney" in September, 1917. Some undercurrent of activity in the Cobb-Speaker matter is eddying around the judge's headquarters in Chicago, but the official policy seems to call for neither admission nor denial.

The judge, usually frank with newspapermen, was evasive when I asked him whether he would receive Cobb and Speaker in the event that they attempted to re-open their case.

Reasons of Own

"I have reasons of my own for not saying what course I would take in that event", was his reply. "Just say that anybody can see me any time."

That Cobb and Speaker, having bided their time while awaiting the Risberg verdict, have been in communication with Landis, either personally or through their attorneys, seems to be pretty well understood in certain well-informed circles to Chicago. That the accused but neither convicted nor exonerated stars will try to force Landis' hand appears to be equally probable.

Verdict Precedent?

They may take the Risberg verdict, with its refusal to accept the word of self implicated "fixers" as having established a precedent and demand that Landis render a decision in their case. It was because of the deposition of "Dutch" Leonard, who freely admitted his part in the alleged conspiracy, that Cobb and Speaker became involved in charges of engaging in a betting coup late in the season of 1919. However the judge was smart enough not to commit himself either one way or the other on Leonard's charges, therefore, it can't very well be said that he took anybody's word for anything. It will be the policy of Cobb and Speaker, in consequence, to attempt the forcing of an admission of guilt or innocence and, if the former be the verdict, to take the matter into court.

Indications are, however, that Landis will decline to pass judgment on the case, in which event the courts again will be the choice of the accused stars. They will contend that their names have been maligned and that baseball has left them without the benefit of an official ruling.

Factor in Defense

A possible factor in Cobb's defense clearly was established by his telegram to Landis, which gained a denial from all witnesses at the Risberg hearing that they ever had known of Cobb being either than an exemplary ball player. John McGraw's rather damaging admission that he had been told to "lay off" when he proposed signing Cobb, also may be used as evidence that baseball, while officially refusing to condemn the players, has raised the bars against them.

It may be that another attempt will be made to persuade Leonard to come on from California to testify, thus reopening the case automatically. Or it may be that the mountain, having refused to come to Mohammet, Mohammet will go to the mountain. In other words, Landis may give the three defendants, Cobb, Speaker and Joe Wood, a chance to face Leonard at Fresno and engage in a final showdown.

Money vs. Name

Even if the judge doesn't offer to pay expenses, I can't see how that would be of any great moment under the circumstances. If the choice was left to me, I'd rather lose money than a good name.

CHICAGO BASEBALL MEN COMMENT ON DECISION

Johnson Says Nothing New in Charges or Exoneration

Chicago, Jan. 13—Here is what five local baseball men, concerned in the latest scandal, had to say regarding the decision of Commissioner Landis exonerating all those involved:

Ban Johnson, president of the American League: "It's simply a revival of the cases tried by Judge Landis six years ago. The same men were given a clean bill. There was nothing new, either in the charges or the exoneration."

Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox: "I do not see how it would have been possible for the commissioner to have done otherwise."

Ray Schalk, manager of the White Sox and one of the accused: "That's just the way I knew it would finish. Now I will get ready for the battles on the ball field."

Eddie Collins, also accused: "There never was any question in my mind as to what the decision would be. I am glad it is settled. Now I can get in shape for the coming season."

Clarence Rowland, American League umpire, also named in the charges: "I was confident it would end in such a verdict. Those stories told by Risberg and Gandil were lies. Judge Landis knew it."

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New York—Joe Ryder, of Brooklyn, and Tony Canzoneri, of Williamsburg, drew, 10 rounds. Andy Martin, of Boston, knocked out Sam Sanchez, of Mexico, in the seventh round.

Newark, N. J.—George Courtney of Oklahoma, knocked out Willie Walker, of New York, in the tenth round. Sollie Castellane, of Newark, knocked out Andy Chaney, of Baltimore, in the third round.

MAY AMEND BASEBALL RULES AS SCANDAL RESULT

Four Drastic Changes To Be Made in By-Laws of Leagues

Chicago, Jan. 13 — Four drastic amendments to the rules that regulate organized baseball may be a direct result of the late Risberg scandal affair, it was learned today.

Commissioner K. M. Landis, who returned a score or more of baseball's celebrities to their "lily white" standing with his decision which exonerated them of the charges brought by Swede Risberg, will himself suggest the four proposed changes in the baseball rules.

The amendments will be proposed and considered when a committee representing the major and minor leagues meet at French Lick Springs next Monday.

The commissioner's suggestions, which no doubt will be adopted, are these:

First—A statute of limitations with respect to alleged baseball offenses.

Second—Ineligibility for one year for offering or giving any gift or "reward" by the players or management of one club to the players or management of another club for services rendered in defeating a competing club.

Third—Ineligibility for one year for betting any sum whatever upon any ball game in connection with which the better has no duty to perform.

Fourth—Permanent ineligibility for betting any sum whatsoever upon any ball game in connection with which the better has any duty to perform.

TWO NEW MEN IN LINEUP FOR ISALY BATTLE

Visitors Defeat Kenton Reds 55 to 22 at Kenton Last Night

Elated by a 55 to 22 victory over the Kenton Reds at Kenton last night and armed with two new men in the line up, the Lorain Lions tonight will invade the Star Auditorium ready to claw and fight with the strong Isaly Dairy quintet.

The visitors have no thought of losing the fracas here tonight and in fact should not have. They have already defeated the Dairies once this season and have a three-season record of two out of six games with the Isaly crew. And when they defeated the locals at Lorain in the first game of the season they did not have a team as good as the one that they will place on the floor tonight for the start of the semi-annual battle.

Rhizmadia, noted center of the Washington Palace Club, is now with the Lions, and Rich, another player well known in Marion basketball circles, is in the Lorain lineup. Granjon, Stengel and McNutt, well-known Lorain will complete the famous lineup. It is said that the two new men, Rhizmadia and Rich, are a basketball team all by themselves, and with the able assistance of three other excellent players, are knocking the cage world cockeyed with their exhibitions. The overwhelming defeat of the Kenton Reds last night, composed of all Kenton players, marks the change in the Lorain crew.

The ever-increasing rivalry between the Lions and the Dairies has reached its peak this year. The Dairies are out for revenge after taking the tail end of the Lions' scores on five occasions during the last three years.

Penry, Dairy forward, is due to cause the Lions trouble tonight in a game with one of the best teams in the state. Action, thrills and excitement galore are promised. The locals will have a tough time defeating the famous Lions but fully expect to turn in a victory. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to witness the contest.

A preliminary game will start at 7:15 and the Dairy-Lion skirmish will be called at 8:15 o'clock.

Speed Champs Smash Three Great Track and Field Records in 1926

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

Three great records, ... ed and revered by the ... passed on into ... darkness of forgotten ... the track and field ... They were the ne... marks for 100 yards, ... and the half mile, ... having been co... the first and sole owner ...

Charles, however, got a stand off on the matter, for it was he who raced 100 yards this year in 9 5-10 seconds to exclusive possession of a mark he formerly held in company with several others at 9 3-5 seconds. But, on the other hand, or feet, the young man was deprived of his furlong record when Roland Locke, of Nebraska University, stepped the distance in faster time than human shanks had ever before known. Locke was clocked in 20 5-10 seconds, against Paddock's former record of 20 8-10.

The A. A. U. was pleased to accept these records without undue interrogation but it lost no time in barring the tenth-second watch from timing in the future.

The watch in question had not the slightest bearing on the third and perhaps most important record established. Reference is being made to the performance of Dr. Otto Peltzer, of Germany, in running the half mile in 1:51 6-10 at the British championships, displacing Ted Meredith's classic mark by three-fifths of a second.

Great half milers have been shooting at Meredith's mark for years but it remained for a then unknown German to bulls-eye the proposition. Peltzer subsequently proved himself by outracing Nurmi and Wide at 1,500 meters, the Furious Finn also being beaten by Wide at two miles. However, he had the satisfaction of establishing a new record at 3,000 meters, 10 wit, 8:20 4-10.

Other world's records established during the campaign were as follows: Discus throw, Bud Houser, 155 feet 3 1-4 inches; two mile relay, Boston A. A., 7:41 4-10; 440 yard relay, Newark A. C. 41 6-10.

These were established in the outdoor national championships at Philadelphia. Here the team title went to the Illinois A. C. which although tied on points with the New York A. C., got the award by scoring a greater number of first places. The Hollywood A. C., Los Angeles, was far ahead at the end of the individual events but failed to enter the relay races because it was unaware of the fact that these would count in the scoring for the team title.

The Illinois A. C. also won the indoor championships. The indoor intercollegiates went to Harvard, the outdoor championship to Southern California, the national cross country title to the Finnish American A. C. and the Intercollegiate cross country championship to Syracuse. However, Bill Cox, Penn State, won the individual title here and established a new record of 30:01.

Incidentally, Harold Osborn, Illinois A. C. won the decathlon; T. W. Brewa, New York A. C., the pentathlon and Willie Ritola the 10 mile run, the two mile steeplechase and cross country titles.

Foreign tourist trade fell off badly after Charley Hoff, Norwegian holder of the world's pole vault record, was withdrawn from circulation by the A. A. U. after failing to keep an engagment to perform in San Francisco. Hoff had established a succession of records indoors but these were not accepted, in view of his suspension and the fact that later he turned professional.

Then, just to be thoroughly understood, the A. A. U. barred all foreign athletes from touring this country until after the 1928 Olympics.

CHICAGO WINS

Upsets Dope Bucket and Defeats Northwestern Five

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 13—Another upset of the Big Ten basketball season was in the records today as a result of Chicago's brilliant triumph over Northwestern at Patton gymnasium last night.

The score was 31 to 27.

The wildcats got away fast and were leading at the half, 19 to 14. But they could not maintain the pace. They tired in the final period and the maroons won easing up.

Kaplan and Gist starred for the victors, each scoring four ringers. Gleichman and Fisher did good work for the purple.

ANTHONYS WIN; EXPRESS TAKE TWO PIN TILTS

Business Women Defeat Displayment When Given Handicap

Anthony's stepped into the limelight of the bowling world last night and downed the Y-Indus team in three consecutive games while the American Express Co. advanced a little higher on the league ladder by taking two from the Pennsy and Hocking Valley bowlers.

Low scores were the feature of both matches, although Anthony's managed to bring up their total to the 2220 mark before the games ended.

Dripps was high scorer for Anthonys with 198 points while Biddle led Y-Indus with 164 in one game. Wheeler was the outstanding star of the Pennsy and Hocking Valley team with 210 points in the final tilt. McNeal's 178 mark was high for the Expressemen.

Given a handicap of 100 points in each game, the representative team of the Business Women's Club took three games from the Displaymen last night. In the second game they would have won without the handicap. Wheaton on the Business Women's side was high scorer of the match with 180 points.

The regular bowling session of the Business Women's Club last night resulted in a double victory for Hamner's team over Slagle's bowlers, a two-game win for Sauter over Blum, and split bill between Porter and Oberlander.

"DRAKES" HOPE TO WIN ALL CAGE TILTS

CLARENCE SIMPSON
BANG
DRAKE WON SEVERAL OF THEIR GAMES IN THE LAST FEW MINUTES OF PLAY
"CHUCK" EVERETT A RUNNING GUARD IS CAPTAIN
SIMPSON, AT CENTER, IS BOOKED TO SHINE

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

DRAKE UNIVERSITY, one of our most ambitious institutions, has its covetous eyes on basketball honors these days.

Around the Missouri Valley conference and contiguous territories they take their basketball seriously. Last year Drake put up a stiff fight for conference honors and this year, with a stronger team, hopes to turn back such opponents as Kansas (champs last season), Oklahoma, the Oregon Aggies and other teams.

The "Bulldogs," as the Drake team is known round about, won seven of its 16 games and the fact that several of these games were won in the last few minutes of play indicates the fighting tendencies of the bulldog outfit.

Last year "Chuck" Everett was the outstanding star of the team. He started the season at forward and later shifted to guard. Playing the running type at the latter position, he was easily the star of the outfit.

He is captain this year. His last year with the institution. Barney Meyers, a forward, playing his first season as a varsity man, was another big star last winter. These men are leading stars of this year's eleven. Clarence Simpson, at center, is booked to shine also.

The team is coached by Bill Boerlter, former star athlete at the Des Moines institution.

Kansas, victors in the 1925-26 race, won 15 out of its eighteen games. Oklahoma and Oregon Aggies tied for second place with nine victories and 12 conference games.

JACK RYAN MAY SUCCEED GLENN THISTLETHWAITE

Ralph Jones Also Named as Possible New Coach at Northwestern

Chicago, Jan. 13—Jack Ryan, formerly head coach at the University of Wisconsin will succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite in a similar capacity at Northwestern, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Thistlethwaite was recently signed as head football coach at Wisconsin.

Ryan has been an assistant to Thistlethwaite at Northwestern for the past two seasons. Prior to his regime at Wisconsin he was head coach at Dartmouth and at Niagara University.

At the same time it was said Ralph Jones, head coach of Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Ill., was being considered for Thistlethwaite's old position.

CAPITOL WINS EASILY

Yellow Springs, O., Jan. 13—Capitol University swamped Antioch College basketball quintet under an avalanche of baskets and emerged victorious in one of the most hectic scoring contests seen on the local floor for several seasons.

Neiman, captain of the visiting aggregation, was the stellar performer of the evening, scoring 11 points on six field goals and two free throws. Seaman played a good game for the locals.

MAY BUY DODGERS

New York, Jan. 13—John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania and president of the National League from 1913 to 1918, is negotiating for the purchase of the Brooklyn baseball club, the New York Telegram says today.

HOWITZER WINS

Trims Galion City Five 25 to 18 in Galion Armory

Howitzer Company cagers last night trounced the Galion City team at Galion, 25 to 18, in a lively basketball contest. The locals played a great game, taking the lead early in the first quarter and keeping it despite many threats by their opponents.

Kellogg was the outstanding performer for the Howitzer team, dropping in six field goals and two free throws for more than half the points scored by his team. Sharrock at center was the best for Galion.

Stief's Volleyball Team Defeats Hill; Takes Title in Business Men's Loop

in Preliminary Game

Team Captained by Bob Stief Has Little Trouble Downing Opponents in Ragged Contest; Waddell Defeats Powell

Bob Stief's volleyballers are champions of the Business Men's League.

This fact was definitely and finally decided last night when Bob and his crew walloped B. K. Hill's outfit 41 to 22 in a game which was not all that championship volleyball match might be. It was one-sided all the way with the lack of team work on Hill's crew being largely responsible for the great victory by Stief's men.

Team work on both sides was nothing to brag about but lack of this important factor in a real volleyball exhibition was most noticeable on the side of the defeated title contenders. At times it seemed that only one man would have been necessary on the floor when the great game of batting home runs with the fist or palm of the hand prevailed.

But it was a decisive defeat and Stief's men now have charge of the title.

Personnel of the winning team includes Captain Stief, George Deeries, Martin Verburg, L. C. Stang, Walter Bailey, M. L. McDaniels, Dr. Kissel, Dr. Ramroth, Monte Walters and Harland Turner.

In the preliminary game, Roy Waddell's team defeated Virgil Powell's quintet 31 to 26 in a clash for sole possession of fifth place in the league. The final standing in the Business Men's Volleyball League at the close of the first session follows:

	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Hill	8	7	1	.875
Stief	8	6	2	.750
Daly	7	5	2	.714
Snare	7	4	3	.571
Waddell	8	4	4	.500
Powell	8	3	5	.375
Patton	7	1	6	.142
Murphy	7	1	6	.142

Movin' On

Lefty Leifield, twenty-four years after his entry into baseball, is still hard at it—and will be coach of the Detroit Tigers pitchers next season.

He starred for the Pittsburgh Pirates for eight years — 1905 to 1912 — and won the rep of being one of the greatest left-handers in the game.

Then, after a few months with the Chicago Cubs and later the Atlanta and San Francisco teams, he dropped out of the game—only to be lured back to the semi-pro ranks in St. Louis.

LEFTY LEIFIELD

But his reputation as a brainy hurler failed to die out with his departure from the big show. Lee Fohl calling him back in 1918 to coach the Brown hurlers.

Even the failure of Fohl at St. Louis and Boston (whither Lefty went with Lee) failed to dim Leifield's fame as a coach.

Now he has a better chance than ever to show his stuff with the Tiger pitchers—always an uncertain and faltering factor in the Tiger makeup.

15 TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Hardin County Investigators Consider 20 Cases Under New Prosecutor

Kenton, Jan. 13—After considering 20 cases, the Hardin County grand jury Wednesday reported 15 true bills to Judge Hamilton E. Hoge of the court of common pleas.

During the three day session more than 40 witnesses were examined under the direction of Loucks B. Brown, newly-elected county prosecutor. After commending the jurors for their work and the record time in which it was disposed of, Judge Hoge dismissed them.

In addition to the indictments the jurors, following their semi-annual inspection of the county jail, recommended minor improvements.

Those named in the indictments are to enter pleas before the common pleas judge Saturday morning. Chief among the numerous cases reported was that of Louis R. Foltz, Forest school teacher, who was indicted on two counts, assault and battery. He was arrested on affidavits sworn out by the fathers of two Forest school youths, whom, it is alleged, he severely punished several weeks ago.

Fred Poling, Bert Comstock and Bert Johnson were indicted for a series of alleged robberies in the county. The complete list of indictments follows:

Fred Poling indicted for burglary and larceny; Bert Comstock, burglary and larceny; Lewis Gary, burglary and larceny; Fred Poling and Bert Johnson, larceny; Bert Johnson and Fred Poling, burglary and larceny; Bert Johnson and Fred Poling, burglary and larceny, receiving and concealing stolen property; Bert Johnson, burglary and larceny, receiving and concealing stolen property; Robert Miller, non-support; Luck Howard statutory offense; Roy DeLong, burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property; Cecil DeLong, burglary and larceny, and receiving and concealing stolen property; Charles Wood, burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property; O. C. Dean, issuing checks without funds and Louis R. Foltz, assault and battery (two counts).

The DeLong brothers and Charles Wood were indicted in connection with the theft of hides near Dola several weeks ago.

MARYSVILLE CAGERS BEAT NEW CALIFORNIA

Girls Win, 20 to 6 Boys Take Match By Score of 26-19

Marysville, Jan. 13—Marysville High School basketball teams turned in two more victories last night when they defeated both the boys and girls' teams of New California on the local floor.

The girls' game as usual was uninteresting with Marysville coming out ahead with a 20 to 6 score. The locals were never in danger and at the end of the half the score stood 8 to 2. Southard scored four field goals and one foul goal but was put out on personals in the last quarter. H. Raesch scored the eight points for the "Cally" girls.

The boys' game furnished a little more excitement with the locals soon finding that they had underestimated the strength of the visitors. They only kept a bare lead during the entire game and won out by a score of 26 to 19. Marysville gave a very poor exhibition of basketball two men being put on personals. Simpson and Mader led the locals in scoring while Baker starred best for the visitors.

The "Cally" squads will appear on the local floor tomorrow night with Watkins as the opposition. Both teams are evenly matched and give promise of an exciting contest.

I was taking a long breath and I breathed myself full of water instead of air, and I choked so my mother had to come running and pound me on the back, and the water ran out of my mouth and tears ran out of my eyes, and my ant looked kinda scairt, and my mother looked so mad that I began to laugh, and then they both laughed.

When I had breakfast I snuck the horn under my coat and took it with me and I blowed it all the way to school, and we were in the basement getting dry, and all the kids wanted to blow it and I wouldn't let them, and Mealy Gutwaltz said: "You know me, Thomas Aristides, I invited you to my party." So I said: "Mealy can blow it while I get me a drink, and she started blowing and I got a dipper of water and came back and stood drinking it, and I said to her, "Shut your eyes and you can blow louder," so she shut her eyes and was taking a long breath when I poured the water in the horn, and she coughed till she busted some of her clothes, and we all got run out of the basement whilst Mush's wife pinned her up, and when the bell rang and I ran in to look for my horn it was on the floor all flattened out. That is the way women are. They can't take a joke. I wish she was a boy.

Daily Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

...Something must have ...over at the Bungleump!" ... Aunt Lettie, the little goat ... she called to see Uncle Wig... ...'s wife one day.

"...do you mean?" asked Mr. ... looking out of the window ... the snow covered garden to ... the little bark house nestled ... an evergreen tree. "What is ...?"

"...a lot of queer little animals, ...colored—red, blue, green, white ...yellow—are running in and out of ... Bungleump," went on Aunt Lettie. "...they make me so nervous!" she ...with a little shiver. "I'm afraid ...chimney is going to blow down off ...roof!"

"...!" laughed Uncle Wiggily ... only the Wogglejigs getting ...scrambled, he went on, "and Boppy ... Um, the funny little man and ..., are unscrambling them."

He looked toward the Bungleump. ...was partly a bungalow and partly ... and saw, just as had Aunt ... a number of little wooden ... boys and girls racing about ... had a red body with green legs ... blue head. Another had a white ... with red legs and a yellow tail. ... Maxie and the rest of them ... scrambled!" chuckled Uncle ...

"What funny names! And what do ... mean by scrambled?" asked Aunt ... who was getting over her nervousness.

... the rabbit gentleman explained ... Gazie, Mazie, Bumple, Wumple ... the other Wogglejigs used to trade ... necks, tails and bodies with one ..., getting all mixed up, or ...scrambled.

And it keeps Boppy and Um busy ...scrambling them by bedtime," said ... Longears.

Aunt Lettie watched and saw the ... little man and woman roll out ... Bungalow and drive the Wogglejigs inside. Having no legs to walk, ... and Um had to roll like barrels. ... soon the little six creatures were ... of the proper color and away they ... to the Hollow Stump School where ... Lucy Mouse Teacher taught them ... Uncle Wiggily's little bunnies their ...

"Now that the Wogglejigs are unscrambled and have gone to school," ... Uncle Wiggily, "I'll take you over, ... Lettie, and have you meet Boppy and Um."

The goat lady thought this would be quite jolly, but she had no sooner bowed her horns at Boppy and Um than Dumple, a red Wogglejig boy, came bouncing into the Bungleump, calling:

"Oh, you ought to see! Gazie is stuck! She's stuck by all her four legs and she can't get loose to go to school! Oh, it's terrible!"

"Dear me! How nervous I am!" fleated Aunt Lettie, looking for a place to sit down.

"Oh, Boppy! What shall we do?" cried Um.

"Tell me about it, Dumple!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Where is Gazie stuck? Why can't she pull out her white legs?" for Gazie was a white colored Wogglejig girl.

"Gazie is stuck in the duck pond!" answered Dumple. "She went out on the ice but she broke through and now she's stuck!"

"Oh, I am so ner—" began Aunt Lettie, but Uncle Wiggily did not stay to listen to the goat lady. Instead, catching up his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, the rabbit gentleman hopped to the duck pond. There, not far from shore, Gazie was stuck in the ice.

"I'll get you out!" cried Uncle Wiggily. And by breaking the ice around Gazie's legs with his crutch, the bunny got her safely out and helped her run back to the Bungleump where she got dry before going to school. Gazie didn't wear clothes so she didn't have to dry them. She just dried herself.

"Why did you go out on the frozen duck pond?" asked the bunny when the little Wogglejig girl was ready to start for school again.

"I went out to look for ice-cream," she answered. "But I didn't see even a spoonful. I'm not going again."

"I should say not!" bleated Aunt Lettie. "Ice-cream doesn't grow on the duck pond." And if the dusting brush will paint a funny picture for the face of the clock to laugh at I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Dumple's jumble.

Believe it or not. No maiden of the Tarahumare Indian tribe in Mexico ever looks at herself in a mirror. It is a superstition of these Indians that it is bad luck for a girl or woman to see her reflected image, even in a pool of water.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this ...neumonia weather. A cough or cold weakens your resistance. If you let it "go down" into your chest it always causes ...ngestion in your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

If you get pneumonia, call doctor immediately. But if ...u have a threatening cold ...cough—even bronchitis—Ayer's ...erry Pectoral at once! End it ...fore inflammation goes down into ...e danger zone."

Quickly and unfailingly Cherry ...ctoral goes straight to the seat ... trouble. Real Medicine, reaching deep with its healing power, ...enetrating through and through ...e irritated membranes.

With the very first swallow of Cherry Pectoral you feel its comforting warmth. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, drives out the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by doctors and hospital clinics—for children and grown people. Even sick children love its flavor. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much, $1.00. pd24b.

15 TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Hardin County Investigators Consider 20 Cases Under New Prosecutor

Kenton, Jan. 13—After considering 20 cases, the Hardin County grand jury Wednesday reported 15 true bills to Judge Hamilton E. Hoge of the court of common pleas.

During the three-day session more than 40 witnesses were examined under the direction of Loucks B. Brown, newly-elected county prosecutor. After commending the jurors for their work and the record time in which it was disposed of, Judge Hoge dismissed them.

In addition to the indictments the jurors, following their semi-annual inspection of the county jail, recommended minor improvements.

Those named in the indictments are to enter pleas before the common pleas judge Saturday morning. Chief among the numerous cases reported was that of Louis R. Foltz, Forest school teacher, who was indicted on two counts, assault and battery. He was arrested on affidavits sworn out by the fathers of two Forest school youths, whom, it is alleged, he severely punished several weeks ago.

Fred Poling, Bert Comstock and Bert Johnson were indicted for a series of alleged robberies in the county. The complete list of indictments follows:

Fred Poling indicted for burglary and larceny; Bert Comstock, burglary and larceny; Lewis Gary, burglary and larceny; Fred Poling and Bert Johnson, larceny; Bert Johnson and Fred Poling, burglary and larceny; Bert Johnson and Fred Poling, burglary and larceny, receiving and concealing stolen property; Bert Johnson, burglary and larceny, receiving and concealing stolen property; Robert Miller, non-support; Lark Howard, statutory offense; Roy DeLong, burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property; Cecil DeLong, burglary and larceny, and receiving and concealing stolen property; Charles Wood, burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property; O. C. Dean, issuing checks without funds and Louis R. Foltz, assault and battery (two counts).

The DeLong brothers and Charles Wood were indicted in connection with the theft of hides near Dola several weeks ago.

MARYSVILLE CAGERS BEAT NEW CALIFORNIA

Girls Win, 20 to 6; Boys Take Match By Score of 26-19

Marysville, Jan. 13 — Marysville High School basketball teams turned in two more victories last night when they defeated both the boys' and girls' teams of New California on the local floor.

The girls' game as usual was uninteresting with Marysville coming out ahead with a 20 to 6 score. The locals were never in danger and at the end of the half the score stood 8 to 2. Southard scored four field goals and one foul goal but was put out on personals in the last quarter. H. Rausch scored the eight points for the "Cally" girls.

The boys' game furnished a little more excitement with the locals soon finding that they had underestimated the strength of the visitors. They only kept a bare lead during the entire game and won out by a score of 26 to 19. Marysville gave a very poor exhibition of basketball two men being put on personals, Simpson and Mader led the locals in scoring while Baker played best for the visitors.

The "Cally" squads will appear on the local floor tomorrow night with Watkins as the opposition. Both teams are evenly matched and give promise of an exciting contest.

MARION SAVINGS BANK RE-ELECTS ALL OFFICERS

Charles E. Merkel Again Heads Institution; F. J. Mautz, Vice President

All of the present executive officers of the Marion Savings Bank, headed by Charles E. Merkel, president, were re-elected at the annual meeting of the board of directors held last night in the banking rooms on N. Main-st.

The other officers are F. J. Mautz, vice president; S. H. DeLong, cashier, and Ava Queen, assistant cashier.

The annual stockholders' meeting took place Monday afternoon, when a board of directors which served last year was re-elected and reports of 1926 affairs were received.

LOANS up to $500

If your wife insisted on a shelf in the kitchen and you were drafted to put it up, you wouldn't send to the big lumber camps in Oregon for a three-foot board.

Then when you need to borrow a small amount of money, why should you go to a big commercial bank?

$25 to $500 is to you, when you need it, just about the most important thing in the world, but it is unimportant to the banks that furnish the money to run factories and big business.

The City Loan is not a bank, but was established especially to supply money in small amounts to meet the needs of people of modest incomes.

Many homes have been made brighter, many small businesses successful, by the simple combination of common sense and City Loan cash.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Weakness of the egg market and strength of the butter market are two features of both wholesale and retail markets today.

Eggs are selling in stores at almost any price. They range from 45 cents a dozen for strictly fresh down to 40 cents a dozen for best quality of storage eggs, and in some stores fresh eggs are being sold for around 40 cents a dozen, and storage eggs are being quoted at 35 cents a dozen.

Butter is selling retail for 58 cents a pound, and promises to hold that price, if not go higher. Cream is high, and while the step up in that price has not been reflected in any sharp advance in butter prices, it indicates that the price of butter will stay up.

According to local wholesale men the supply of eggs is very strong now. Hens are laying good, and farmers are bringing many into the city, and disposing of them. Farmers are getting rid of them regardless of quoted prices.

BELIEVE PLAN FOR HOME WILL BE SUCCESSFUL

American Legion Members Confident Drive for Funds Will Go Over Top

Predictions that the financing plan started to give Marion an American Legion home will meet with success were made at a meeting of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162 last night by captains of the 10 groups into which the membership has been divided for carrying on a campaign throughout the city in behalf of the project.

Only a small amount of preliminary soliciting has been done, the group captains reported, but this has been sufficient to indicate that citizens will help the Legion carry out its plans.

Starts Tonight

An aggressive campaign, which is to extend throughout the city and also nearby rural districts, is to be started tonight, A. W. Sandrock, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, stated today.

It is the Legion's plan to give every citizen an opportunity to contribute to financing of the Home project. No donations are asked, the plan being to sell insurance savings certificates which are to be issued under the terms of a contract entered into with a well-known insurance company. The Legion will receive its revenue in commissions from the sale of these certificates.

To Make Agreement

Each subscriber to the fund agrees to make deposits at regular intervals in an insured savings account for which a certificate is issued. The certificate holder will be paid the full amount of his or her savings at the termination of a stipulated period of years, plus four per cent interest, compounded semi-annually.

In addition life insurance is provided for the full amount of the certificate, plus the total of deposits.

The Marion Savings Bank has been designated as depository for the insurance accounts.

"It's Terrible," Declares Chaplin as Reporters Find Him

FILM COMEDIAN NERVOUS, DRAWN AND WORRIED

Charlie in Chicago for Few Minutes and Then Disappears Again

Chicago, Jan. 13—Charley Chaplin continued as elusive as ever today, despite the fact that newspaper reporters had him "cornered" for a few minutes here last night after he stepped off a Santa Fe train from California.

The famous film comedian is believed enroute to New York, although no one is quite sure just what became of him. The Atlantic Express, which left here early today, with one Pullman for New York, was reported carrying a passenger and a servant who resemble Chaplin and his Japanese valet.

Chaplin Nervous

"It's terrible—simply terrible," said Chaplin to reporters who met him as he stepped off the Santa Fe train here last night. When asked for a statement regarding the divorce suit filed against him in Los Angeles last Monday by Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, the comedian said:

"Please, boys, let's don't talk about it. It's too terrible for words. I can't make any statement—not now. Not until I confer with my attorney."

Chaplin was very nervous. He appeared drawn and worried. Apparently he hoped to slip into the city unnoticed as he and his servant were the last to leave the train.

When Charley learns he had been discovered, he shrugged his shoulders resignedly and paused in the group of reporters and photographers. But the old Chaplin smile was missing. He was a sorry, pathetic figure.

And so he did. But after refusing point blank to make a statement concerning the divorce proceedings, his only reply to further questioning was a tightening of the lips.

Suddenly, as though by a pre-arranged plan, Charlie and his servant stepped through a side door of the station into a taxicab and were soon lost in the traffic. Efforts to follow them in other cabs proved futile.

This was the last seen of Chaplin to date.

CHAPLIN HOME, STUDIO AND INCOME SEIZED

Los Angeles, Jan. 13—A substantial portion of the estimated $10,000,000 fortune which Charles Spencer Chaplin gathered together with a trick cane, a derby hat and a pair of floppy pants, today was in the hands of receivers appointed to handle his property pending trial of the divorce action instituted by Lita Grey Chaplin.

W. I. Gilbert who, with Herman Spitzell was appointed received, today sent detectives to the film actor's palatial Beverly Hills home. The detectives formally took possession of the 40-room residence and notified servants that nothing could be removed.

Studio Taken Over

Other detectives appointed by Gilbert, who was attorney for Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist took possession of the Chaplin studios in Hollywood. It was reported practically no moving picture apparatus was found.

A court order against United Artists Corporation was served, directing that organization to withhold all money due the comedian.

Chaplin's whereabouts were somewhat of a mystery. His studio manager reported he was enroute to New York. A report reached the office of Lyndol Young, chief counsel for Mrs. Chaplin, that the comedian had left by airplane, but a check failed to confirm it.

ESTATE OFFERED TO PRESIDENT

This picturesque 60-room lodge, situated in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and with 100,000 acres of scenery around it, has been offered to President and Mrs. Coolidge for their vacation this summer.

DOG TAG SALE BELOW NORMAL, OFFICIALS SAY

Only 2,530 Licenses Purchased to Date; 1,500 Less Than Estimated Number

With seven days to go, the dog tag sale is still short of what officials believe it should be. To date only 2,530 tags have been purchased, which is 1,500 less than the estimated number of dogs in the county.

On Jan. 20, a week from today, the price of dog tags goes up to $2 and $3. After that date the penalty will be charged on all licenses issued.

The dog and kennel fund of the county will need more funds this year, if the average of sheep claims comes up to what it was last year. County Commissioners were forced to dip into the road funds for money to pay the list of claims last year. It is this shortage that has started the drive around the 9,000 dogs in the county and place the license for them.

Two Get Divorces

Two divorces were granted yesterday and one this morning by Judge George B. Scofield in Common Pleas Court.

Divorce was granted Emma Heintze from Elwin M. Heintze yesterday on grounds of gross neglect. She was also restored to her maiden name of Emma Smithson.

The other divorce granted yesterday was to Ara B. Johnson from Coleman W. Johnson, on grounds of extreme cruelty. She was also given her maiden name of Ara Daniels.

This morning Herbert Mathias was given a divorce from Laura L. Mathias on grounds of gross neglect. Mathias was awarded custody of the one child, with provisions that the mother may visit the child at any time.

New Light Fixtures

Common Pleas Court room was outfitted with some new electric light fixtures yesterday, and three of the old gas fixtures, which have been in the courthouse since it was built were removed.

The two old fashioned, three globe gas lights on the bench, which have not functioned for years, were removed entirely and a new electric desk light was installed. The new desk light makes a big improvement in the appearance of the room.

New Ceiling Light

One of the old ceiling lights, using gas, was also removed and a drop electric light put up near the front of the court room. To do this one of the drop electric lights which has been in place for several years was moved back and the new light put up almost directly over the bench.

This new overhead light has proved quite an attraction, for ever since it was put up, it has swayed steadily back and forth on its chain. The light hangs directly over the register which supplies heat to the court room, and the warm air coming from the register furnishes the motive power, swinging the new light slowly back and forth. The electric light which was formerly over the bench, and was moved back to make room for the new one, swayed slightly, through an arc of three or four inches, but the new light, of a different shape, swings through an arc of a foot or more.

AGED COLORED COUPLE FOUND ON ERIE FREIGHT

Started from Marion To Go To Pennsylvania; Taken Off at Galion

With the woman's feet frozen, and both of them suffering from exposure, an aged colored couple, who said they had been living in Marion, were taken Wednesday morning from an Erie boxcar when the train arrived in Galion. According to the man they boarded the train in Marion Tuesday night, and were attempting to make their way to a small town in Pennsylvania. They had no money and had climbed into the boxcar here to ride as far as they could before discovery or cold forced them off.

The public welfare committee of the Galion Community Chest took charge of the man and woman. Medical attention was necessary for the woman's feet. After being given food and medical attention they were furnished tickets to their destination by the Community Chest workers, and sent on their way.

SCHICK TESTING TO END IN COUNTY TODAY, CLAIM

Work Will Terminate with Completion of Operation at Pleasant School

Schick testing in the county schools will reach an end today, with the testing of students in the Pleasant School. All the other schools in the county have been reached by Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, and a large number of tests given.

Next week the reading of the tests will start and Dr. Sifritt will cover the same territory, gathering the results of the tests, and immunizing students who show they are not immune to diphtheria. This will occupy most of next week, and then the Schick testing in the county schools will be ended for the year, unless there is occasion to test individuals who have not been tested and immunized in the regular circuit of the schools.

CAMPAIGN TO ABOLISH CITY MANAGER STARTS

Harry L. Davis at Leadership of New Movement in Cleveland

Cleveland, Jan. 13—Cleveland, the first major city to adopt the municipal manager form of government, now faces a campaign which seeks to abolish the custom.

Under the leadership of Harry L. Davis, former governor of Ohio, a huge mass-meeting was held here last night at which petitions were circulated asking for a referendum election on the question.

Davis' campaign would cause the city to revert to its original 33 wards and make the administrative head an elective instead of a appointive position.

Cleveland adopted the city manager plan in 1924. The official receives $25,000 salary.
